Churchill Advocates Strength

Prime Minister Tells Congressional Leaders That West Must Stay Strong To Meet Reds

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told congressional leaders today the United States and Britain, as miltary partners, must remain strong and vigilant in order to permit "peaceful coe-istence" with Russia.

The 79-year-old British leader spoke briefly to 22 Senate and House leaders who joined him as guests at a White House luncheon President Eisenhower gave in his honor.

Meanwhile Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, with an assist from Australia's visiting foreign minister, were reported pressing Churchill to agree to quick action by free nations to save Red-threatened Southeast Asia.

Persons who attended the White House luncheon reported hCurchill indirectly noted the split in Asiatic policy which threatens the traditionally close ties between Britain and the United States.

However, he took the view that differing views between friends can be considered calmly in order to devise a joint approach.

"It is better to talk jaw to jaw then to have war," Churchill was quoted as saying. Churchill scheduled a private meeting this afternoon with Dulles, who has been a frequent critic of British Far East policy. But this meeting was later postponed until tomorrow in order to give the aging Prime Minister a chance to nap this afternoon before resuming talks with Eisenhower.

Churchill and Eisenhower conferre dfor 90 minutes this afternoon, continuing discussions on Southeast Asian problems. It was their fifth talk since Churchll arrived yesterday by plane to wipe away what he called any "misunderstandings."

The White House declined to provide any specific information about the afternoon meeting but said all the conferees, including Dulles and Eden, were having "very friendly discussions."

A final communique announcing results of the talks which was tentatively expected Sunday night was postponed until sometime Monday to give Churchill and Eisenhower opportunity to extend their discussions through Monday morning.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said no undue significance should be read into the move to prolong the meeting. He declined to answer a question about whether this indicated agreement or disagreement on Asiatic matters.

The presence at th afternoon conference of Assist. Secretary of State Henry Byroade, who is a Middle - East expert indicated talks might have covered that area including Russia's increased emphasis on ties with the Arabs.

Hagerty said Byroade attended the conference to help in the drafting of a final statement.

In addressing the congressman, Churchill made clear he fully supports Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden whose recent speech containing barbed criticism of U.S. foreign policy aroused bitter comments from top State Department officials.

Churchill was quoted as saying he liked the way Eden mentioned "peaceful coexistence" with Russia as the ultimate goal of British policy. Churchill said he thought it was well put.

Esenhower and Dulles, during today's talks, personally urged Churchill and Eden to join Britain's military might to a free world coalition of nations in Southeast Asia as soon as possible.

Admits 4 Year Crime

KANSAS CITY, June 26 (AP) — Police said today a 63-year-old man had admitted forging old age pension checks since 1950, using the name of a pensioner who had been dead for six years.

Detective James Messick said Sad Jackson had signed a statement admitting the forgeries. He quoted Jackson as saying the widow of the pensioner began forging her name to the checks after her husband's death in 1948. Then, the statement said, Jackson took up the ruse.

Police said Jackson would be turned over to federal authorities.

Reaches to 104

Our old pal, I. R. Mercury, took another ride on his elevator Saturday, and when the thing got to the top he just opened up the roof and let'er rip right on skyward. He was up 104 floors before he finally called a halt to the upward trend and started the gadget back down. It was the first time this year he had gone into the three figured area.

First of Series on City Government—

Mayor Tells Duties of His Office

Officers of City Turn In Written Reports Friday Night Telling Of Their Duties and Limitations of Their Officers

Friday evening in the City Council chamber of the City Hall, all the appointive and elective officials of the city, with the exception of special board members and the individual firemen and policemen, met to discuss their respective offices.

It was a get-acquainted session for the new administration, and also an educational meeting, to allow each officer to know the duties and limitations of each other official.

Mayor Julian Bagby opened the meeting with a discussion of the duties of the office of mayor. Below are printed the mayor's remarks, and on succeeding days the reports of the other officers will be published:

"City government touches the lives of more people in more ways than any other unit of government. For this reason alone it is desirable for the citizens of any community to have an intelligent understanding of the basic functions of the various departments of local government. It is especially desirable that those employed by the city have a clear overall concept of the general pattern of city affairs and at least an elementary understanding of the authority and responsibility of the different branches of municipal government. Intelligent government is good government and an informed electorate is the biggest asset of the democratic process.

"In the few minutes assigned to me this evening I would like to discuss with you the duties and powers of the office of mayor. It has been my observation that the functions of the mayor are not well understood. His authority is usually overrated and the average citizen who undertakes a study of the functions and resposibilities of this office is likely to be impressed, not by the powers of the mayor, but by his lack of power.

"Because he is referred to as the chief executive of the city, the mayor often becomes all things to all people. Every mayor soon learns that the average citizen has an exaggerated idea of the mayor's power and influence. He is expected to ease all sorrows and right every wrong. Women come to him and expect him to solve their domestic problems. Delegations of all descriptions call upon him. He is petitioned to do something about the lovers who seek out the public parks on moonlit nights. He is roused from bed with a demand

Grasshoppers Are Invading Pettis County

Farmers Spraying Again, and Plane Begins Its Flights

By Merle Vaughan
Pettis County Agent

The long expected grasshopper attack has materialized, at least in some parts of Pettis County. One of the worst hit areas is the Manila neighborhood, located between Highway 65 and Green Ridge. One farmer, Glen Hunter, is running his sprayer almost night and day doing custom work for his neighbors.

J. J. Wear said he had spent over $100 on materials and custom work and still the hoppers keep coming. I saw a nice corn field at Billy Campbells where the hoppers were working out toward the center of the field. Many stalks had 3 to 6 hoppers on them. On some stalks the leaves had been eaten down to the midvein, while other stalks had been cut off a few inches above the ground.

At Bill McCune's they were making quick work of a Sudan grass field with several hoppers on a single stalk. When I walked into the field, they made as much noise, moving ahead of me, as a flock of sheep would have done.

Other similar areas are being attacked. The plane of the Planters Flying Service that worked on the army worms returned to the county Saturday morning and sprayed a 43 acre corn field for Dick Shelton south of Hughesville. At present the plane is using toxaphene. When they get a supply of aldrin, it will be used and the price will be reduced slightly. Orders can be booked again at the T & O Rock Phosphate Co.

Folks spraying the hoppers need to use the full application of one pint of aldrin or ½ gallon of toxaphene per acre. Poison bait can be mixed the day before so it will be ready to spread at daylight. Where small corn is being sprayed, the nozzles between the rows can be plugged so most of the material goes on the corn row.

Printed material is available at the Extension Office regarding mixing the bait and spray solutions. Those who desire to do some custom spraying may also leave their names and phone number at that office.

Rocky Mountain Rocket Derailed Injuring Many

HALLAM, Neb., June 26 (AP) — The Rock Island Rocky Mountain Rocket left the tracks near Hallam last night strewing cars along its right-of-way and injuring at least 75 of its 225 passengers, but only two remained in serious condition today.

Veronica Moroney, Denver, was reported in satisfactory condition tonight. Her condition had been described earlier as serious. W. R. McFarland, 58, Chicago, a cook on the train, still was listed as in poor condition with burns about the face, arms and chest. Fifty-seven persons in all remained in hospitals tonight.

Rock Island officials in Chicago said the tracks will be cleared by 2 a.m. (CST) Sunday.

B. F. Wells of Des Moines, assistant general manager of the Rock Island's First Division, said "a pinion gear on a traction motor in the middle one of three diesel units had locked, causing the wheels to lock and begin sliding. The sliding caused the wheels to flatten and they knocked out a switch just east of Hallam."

The train was derailed just after it had passed through Hallam, a town of 172 persons, some 20 miles southwest of Lincoln.

"The train started to shimmy and all of a sudden I was thrown against the controls," recalled Engineer Roy Ensign of Fairbury, Neb.

Conductor W. O. Nielsen, 65, of Omaha called it a "miracle" that no one was killed. One coach was piled on top of another, a rail was driven like an arrow through another and other cars lay along the right-of-way, eight of them toppled over.

Sedalians Buy Financing When Getting a New Home

Cash Deals Are Few, Less Than 10 Percent, And Most Buyers Want 2 and 3 Bedrooms On One Floor, So Real Estate Men State

People who buy houses in Sedalia ask about financing first and the houses second. Otherwise, the sales traffic has not changed appreciably.

This is the general picture obtained from interviewing several real estate agents in the city. They agreed unanimously that the cash customer is a seldom-seen human being these days. Less than 10 per cent, one estimated, offer a cash payment for a home.

"There was a day," he said, "when we had several people in the office waiting to sign cash contracts."

There is a growing change in taste, too. The young buyer seek a house with two or three bedrooms, preferably all on one floor. Some of the older buyers are also beginning to ask for one-story homes to avoid the exertion of climbing stairs.

This is not always so. Many buyers still prefer to have the bedrooms upstairs, where the children can play without cluttering up the main part of the house and where the beds can be left unmade until later in the morning. Still, the trend is away from that.

The relators report that there seems to be no special preference as to building material. Whether the house is of frame construction or of brick apparently makes little difference. The majority of requests come for homes in the southwest section of town.

But factors like these are considered only after the all-important question of financing has been discussed.

One agent said that cash buying boomed immediately after the war, when service-connected men had been able to save up money to buy a home outright. Since then, the ever-rising cost of living has whittled down those savings, and the cash simply isn't on hand anymore. Financing has been made easier, and young people are turning more and more to buying homes early in life. The FHA and GI loan programs have made home-owning possible for many people who would have had to wait along time in past years.

One of the most frequent request by a prospective house buyer is that the down payment be less than $1,000. This is a small amount indeed in a market where homes range, on the average, from about $8,000 to $15,000.

"It's not only in house-buying that they're doing it," one relator said. "They've doing the same thing with refrigerators, television sets and automobiles."

The relators are glad to see the traffic continuing at a good pace, although there has been a great deal of house construction going on in Sedalia—1½ million dollars' worth in 1953—but they give the impression of uncertainty about how healthy the easy financing is.

"All right as long as our economy hold up," said one, "but what happens if times get tough?"

So far, people who secure easy financing in Sedalia have had little trouble. The relators report that there have been few instances in which payments could not be met.

There have been two advantages to it besides that of being able to buy early in life and with relatively little cash on hand. Buyers have found, the agents agree, that a house is more easily sold if there is a large debt on it, because the financing of it has already been arranged.

Young people also feel that they might as well buy a house as rent one, since purchase payments can be arranged which are no higher or not much higher than rent. If they can't make the payments and lose the house, they are no worse off than if they had rented.

One real estate man said he thought Sedalia was undergoing growing pains and that for this reason the financial picture was hard to describe. He referred to the fact that several men formerly connected with the Missouri-Pacific shops are selling their homes and leaving the city, particularly the younger men. On the other hand, others continue to come into the city to fill the gap. He expressed the opinion that with the establishment of more small industries, Sedalia would keep growing and perhaps the economy would settle.

Asked about the influx of servicemen from the Sedalia Air Force Base, the agents reported that about 90 per cent of them are renting, and the few that are buying are doing so through financing. Most of these men never know from day to day when they may receive a transfer order, after which they would have only a few days to sell their homes. They can't take the chance of being caught.

One elderly relator reminisced, "I can remember when a good home sold for only a few hundred dollars and we were renting houses for as little as $8 a month. Then a woman would ask, 'Does it have hardwood floors?' "

Nixon Tells GOP That It Must Unite

Vice President Warns Party They Must Get Together For Victory

MILWAUKEE, June 26 (AP)—Vice President Nixon told Republicans tonight they must unite among themselves if they want to win this year's congressional elections and stay in power.

The alternative would be "something far more radical," the victory of a Democratic party controlled by "left wingers," Nixon said in a speech prepared for a fund-raising dinner of Wisconsin state Republicans.

The vice president dwelt at length on changes he said Americans voted for in 1952 and which, he declared, the Eisenhower administration has achieved in the fields of foreign policy, domestic programs and elimination of subversives.

He said the Republicans have abondoned the policy of Dean Acheson, secretary of state under former President Truman, which he listed as "directly responsible for the loss of China" and hence for the Korean War and today's crisis in Indochina.

"If the Republican party is to continue to be a great party, its members must be united on fundamental principles which transcend the differences we have," he said.

Nixon did not spell out what party difference he had in mind. It was assumed however that, speaking as he was in the home state of Sen. McCarthy, he may have been referring at least in part to the lengthy televised Senate probe which saw the Republican senator pitted against Republican-appointed Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens. McCarthy himself was invited to the banquet along with other state GOP leaders, but his office staff sent word he was unable to attend because he was on vacation.

Lumber Company Burns Slowly At Boonville

BOONVILLE (AP)—The Boonville fire department was called about 9:15 a.m. today to fight a fire at the Central Crate and Lumber Company's sawmill in the southeast part of the city.

Most of the fire is among the lumber and sawdust, and firemen face a long job in extinguishing it. Fire Chief Aubrey Bechtold said that he thinks the blaze has been brought under control.

The city's two fire trucks were fighting the blaze in relays because of lack of a water at the site. They were emptying tanks on the trucks and then taking them about a mile to the nearest fire plug to be refilled.

George Perry, operator of the mill, said the fire apparently spread to the sawdust and lumber from a pile of scrap that was burned yesterday afternoon. A planer was badly damaged. He estimated the damage at $2,000.

Call For Gautemala Meeting

Ten Of 21 American Republics Ask For Meeting To Deal With Guatemalan Situation

WASHINGTON, June 26—(AP)—Ten of the 21 American republics tonight called for an emergency meeting of foreign ministers July 7, probably in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, to work out means of dealing with the Communist menace in Guatemala.

The call for the conference, expected to be approved quickly by the Council of the Organization of American States at a session tentatively planned for 3 p. m. Monday, came as the war situation in Guatemala took a more serious turn.

The bombings of Guatemala by rebel forces became more intensive. The boasts of Guatemala's pro-Communist government that it would wipe out the invaders went unrealized.

The United States was among countries asking for the meeting which is something the government of President Jacobo Arbenz of Guatemala has fought at every turn. Arbenz' diplomats had maneuvered-up to now unsuccessfully—for a hearing before the Security Council of the United Nations on its charges of foreign aggression. There it asked for and got the support of Soviet Russia.

Announcement that the United States and nine other American nations had asked for the emergency conference came ujst after the Inter-American Peace Committee, an OAS agency, kept open the door to Guatemala to let the committee send an investigating team into the war area to report on the situation.

Alfredo Chocano, Guatemala's charge d'affaires in the United States, said tonight "I don't know yet" if there would be any change in Guatemala's position regarding such an inquiry. Some belief was expressed among diplomats that Guatemala would accept the committee's new invitation to investigate the aggression charges. Nobody said why they thought so.

As for the foreign ministers' conference itself, Chocano said, "That was to be expected. I have no further comment."

Guatemala's position about such a conference is well known. It is dead set against it, charging that any action taken by such a meeting would in effect constitute intervention in the internal affairs of another state.

The request for the special conference was made in a communication to Chairman Hector David Castro of the Council of the OAS.

World War Hero Dies

ST. LOUIS, June 26 (AP)—Fred A. Renick, World War I hero and former St. Louis license collector, died last night of lung cancer. He was 66.

Renick, a salesman for a brokerage firm, was the first St. Louisan to receive the Distinguished Service Cross for Bravery in the battle of the Somme.

A Democrat, Renick served as license collector from 1935 to 1942. He is survived by a sister and a brother, J. Bruce Renick and a brother, J. Bruce Renick of North Hollywood, Calif.

Five Killed By Train

TUSCOLA, Ill., June 26 (AP)—Five persons were killed today when an Illinois Central passenger train struck an automobile at a Tuscola crossing.

The dead were L. W. Carrico, 32, a construction worker, his wife, Bonnie, 25, their two daughters, Terry, 6, and Janice, 3, all of Sidney, Ill., and Caroline Ijames, 15, Mrs. Carrico's sister, of Belleville, Kan.

Col A. J. Beck

Col. A. J. Beck To Command Bomb Wing

Will Take Over From Colonel Cox At SAFB Friday

Col. A. J. Beck will assume command of the 340th Bomb Wing, Sedalia Air Force Base, on Friday, July 2, from Col. Chester C. Cox, who is leaving to attend the Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Col. Beck is coming to Sedalia from Strategic Air Command Headquarters at Offutt AFB, Neb., where he was commander of the 3902nd Air Base Wing. He has been with SAC since its beginning, and was staff judge advocate and special projects officer to the chief of staff at Offutt before taking command of the 3902nd AB Wing in May, 1952.

A native of Dallas, Tex., Colonel Beck is a graduate of Southern Methodist University Law School, and was a practicing attorney prior to entering the Air Force.

During World War II, he flew 133 combat missions totaling 352 combat hours in the South Pacific. He is currently rated a senior pilot and has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the British Military Cross and numerous campaign medals.

Colonel Beck's wife, Anne, and their three daughters, Stephanie, 7, Melanie, 4, and Darcy, 3 months, will accompany the colonel to his new assignment.

Colonel Cox arrived at Sedalia Nov. 20, 1953, from French Morocco, where he was base commander of Sidi Slimane AFB. During World War II he flew 25 missions over France and Germany and took part in the Normany Invasion. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, the the British Distinguished Flying Cross, the Croix de Guerre and the WWII Victory Medal.

In 1946 and 1947 Colonel Cox was deputy chief of staff of operations with the Air Transport Command at the Pentagon in Washington. He was deputy commander of the 301st Bomb Wing at Barksdale in 1951, before being sent to North Africa.

Colonel Cox was born in Grand Rapids, Minn., and attended the University of Minnesota, from which he holds a bachelor's degree in industrial relations. Besides his wife Irene, he has a son, Chester Charles II, who is 11 years old.

Before entering Air War College, the present commander will take a 30-day leave.

Found Dead In Home

ST. LOUIS, June 26 (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Bates, 32, was found shot to death today at her home. Police said her husband, Richard Bates, found a revolver containing a discharged shell at her side. Police said Bates reported he thought his wife was asleep when he returned home last night, and that he did not discover she was dead until today.

Major Guatemalan Battle Reported By Rebel Forces

Liberation Army Claims Major Battle With 1,500 Well Equipped Guatemalan Regulars Is Taking Place For Rail Center Of Zacapa

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 26 (AP)—The anti-Communist "Liberation army" announced tonight that its forces are battling with 1,500 "well-equipped" Guatemalan regulars attempting to defend Zacapa, rail center 25 miles north of the Honduran border.

A communique also declared an anti-Communist uprising had broken out in Puerto Barrios, chief Guatemalan port on the Caribbean, and, "There is fighting in the streets and plazas."

It said the fuel tanks which remained after the port's main oil tanks had been destroyed by rebel air raids several days ago, were blown up.

The communique said 500 or more anti-Communists yesterday staged another uprising in the town of Jalapa and were attacking military installations.

The communique, the seventh issued by the rebels since Col. Carlos Castillo Armas ppulled the trigger for the revolution nine days ago, followed a call by the insurgents for the 6,000-man Guatemalan army to revolt.

The rebels' secret "Liberation radio" told army leaders to jail leftist President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman and his regime and set up a military government to consult with the insurgents. The broadcast proposed that a joint ceasefire then be arranged to end the bloodshed.

The Guatemalan Communists, not the army, were proclaimed the enemy of the invading forces.

The communique tonight said several Guatemalan air force pilots had deserted. It named two majors and a lieutenant who had taken refuge in El Salvador's Embassy in Guatemala City.

The rebels said they had "annihilated Communist hordes" in conquering Chiquimula, 20 miles inside Guatemala, yesterday, but gave no definite figures.

The invasion forces then moved on toward Zacapa, one of the top strategic objectives of the rebels in the southeastern part of the country.

The battle with 1,500 regulars was said to be in progress between Chiquimula and Zacapa.

Women ran into the streets of Chiquimula to receive the rebel victors, the communique said, and "kissed the guns of the invaders."

The latest government announcements, meanwhile, continued to claim a smashing defeat of the invaders all along the line. It said invaders were being chased into the mountains after a victory at Puerto Barrios.

The United States and nine other American republics issued a call in Washington Saturday night for an emergency meeting of the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States (OAS) to deal with Communist 'intervention" in Guatemala. The meeting probably will be held in Rio de Janeiro July 7.

After capturing Chiquimula yesterday the rebels announced they had set up a provisional government there under Col. Castillo Armas. It was announced tonight that a list of cabinet members of the new government had been sent to the secretary-general of (OAS) in Washingon. The list was not immediately here.

Patrol Superintendent Urges Ten Mile Cut

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, urged Missourians to cut ten miles an hour off their driving speeds and add years to their lives and pleasure to their coming Fourth of July weekend.

Nine persons died in Missouri traffic accidents during the Memorial Day weekend. The holiday next weekend, for the most part, will stretch from Friday evening through the dark hours of Monday night.

"Waggoner, expecting "the greatest Fourth of July traffic jam in history," today urged travelers to start a little earlier, drive a little slower and a lot more carefully.

Killed In Collision

CLAY CENTER, Kan., June 26 (AP)—A young woman was killed and six persons were injured, one critically, in a headon collision of two cars on a curve of U. S. Highway 24 10 miles east of here late today.

Shirley Simco, 20, of Pleasantville, Colo., was killed. She was riding in an eastbound car driven by Vito Rossi of Richmond Hill, N. Y., who is a member of the Air Force stationed at Colorado Springs. Rossi suffered lacerations.

Also in the Rossi car was Mrs. Evelyn Freeman, 52, Springs Valley, N. Y., who was injured critically.

A Kansas City family was in the west bound car. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Retrum, both 41, and their children, Cheyrl, 3, and Richard, 6, suffered bruises and lacerations. Hospital attendants said Retrum might have a hip fracture.

All of the injured were admitted to the Clay Center hospital.

Library Will Close On Hot Sundays

Beginning July 4, the Sedalia Public Library will be closed all day each Sunday, continuing through August.

In September they will observe their regular hours once more, being from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Freak Tidal Wave Strikes Chicago Piers

Over A Score Swept Into Water While At Least 4 Drown

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—A giant Lake Michigan wave rolled over Chicago's beaches and piers today, sweeping more than a score of terrified fishermen into the churning waters. Four bodies were recovered and police estimated at least nine others drowned.

On lookers said the wave rose five to 20 feet over beaches and harbors on a 25-mile stretch from Chicago's South side to suburn Wilmette in the north.

It was the seventh freak tidal wave, or seiche, on the Great Lakes in this century, and probably caused the most fatalities. Five persons were drowned near Holland, Mich., on a similar wave in 1938.

"The wave came up all of a sudden, like a swell," said Jack Cina, who works in a bat shop at Chicago's North Side Montrose Harbor. Nearly a score of fishermen on jetties were washed off.

Fishermen at North Ave. pier saw the wall of water coming and started to run. Those closest to shore made it. The wave brushed off the others like a giant arm.

The Montrose and North Ave. beaches were the first to be hit. Park police flashed an alarm to all Chicago beaches. Police quickly cleared a score of fishermen from the 64th St. pier on the South Side. A few minutes later the wave washed high over that pier.

Lifeguards atop lookout posts sighted the wave coming at the Rogers Park beach on Chicago's far North Side. They blew whistles and shouted warnings through megaphones. The 50 to 100 bathers made it to shore in time. A six-foot high wave gushed over 100 feet of beach.

The squall caused a sharp change in air pressure. High pressure pushed the water down several feet like a giant hand. The water mounted up at the edges of the giant hand, causing the wave.

Afterwards, the lake surface began to rock like water in a crock.

The big wave lasted only two to three minutes, but more than an hour after it struck an occasional wave still washed over piers, sending rescue workers scurrying back to shore.

Some beaches were ordered closed for the day because of the churning waters.

Des Moines Defeats Worst Flood Ever On River Record

DES MOINES, June 26—(AP)—The flooding Des Moines river, defeated in its mightiest thrust at this capital city of Iowa, rolled southward toward Ottumwa tonight.

Ottumwa, city of 34,000 in southeastern Iowa, expected to handle without major damage the arrival of the crest there tomorrow night.

Col. Nelson LeClair Jr., district U. S. Army engineer at Rock Island, Ill., advised Gov. William S. Beardsley that barring a fateful turn in the weather Iowa's 10-day flood crisis is about over.

LeClair estimated flood damage in Iowa thus far at 15 million dollars. Hubert McCurley, American Red Cross official, said 585 homes in Des Moines and in Polk county outside the city sufered flood damage. He said 117 had major damage or were destroyed completely.

HST Reported Worse As Infection Sets In

KANSAS CITY, June 26 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, who underwent a major operation early last Sunday, was reported worse and then improved tonight by his physician, Dr. Wallace Graham.

Enteritis—an inflamation of the intestines—set in last night, Dr. Graham told newsmen.

"Mr. Truman isn't as good as he had been but is better tonight than he was this afternoon," the doctor said shortly after 10 p.m. (CST). He declined to elaborate.

Dr. Graham said that intravenous feeding was being continued and that no other food was given Truman today.

The former President was moved to an air conditioned room at Research Hospital this afternoon at the insistence of Mrs. Truman.

Wheat, Oats Harvest Going At Lincoln

By Mrs. Herbert Hansen

LINCOLN—The farmers of the vicinity are taking advantage of this fine weather for harvesting of their oat and wheat crops and are busy hauling the grain into the local elevators by truck from early morning until late at night. Some report a yield as much as 46 bushels of wheat per acre and of excellent quality.

They consider the yields at present time about double those of only a few years back. They account for the vast increase in quality and yield as a result of improved farming practices such as crop rotation, more and better seed sown per acre and the use of more fertilizers and other soil-building factors.

Fred Owens and daughter, Wilma, had as their guests for dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Clark Henry and family, Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Amon Owens and two children, Lincoln, and Mrs. Opal Austin and daughters, Tightwad.

Members of the Mount Pleasant Church entertained with a surprise birthday party honoring their pastor, the Rev. Atkins, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moor Saturday night. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Means and daughter Sue were guests or Mrs. Means' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Collins, Windsor, Sunday. Sue remained for a few days visit at their home.

Mrs. Herbert Davis and daughter, Portland, Ore., are enjoying a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Love, and with other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Harry Gerdts, Red Oak, Ia., arrived here the last of the week to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kunger, who have been ill.

Freddie Lynch, Kansas City, Shirley Lynch, Sedalia, and Charles Lynch, Memphis, Tenn., returned home Wednesday after a ten-day furlough with relatives before being sent to the east coast. They were all guests in the Dr. H. B. Lynch home over the weekend.

Mrs. Bill Chaney and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bryan, Warrensburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Suhl and son were dinner guests Sunday in the James Chaney home near Windsor. The occasion was in honor of the hosts sixth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Mary Jackson spent the week in the country with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Meuschke, and Marva Lee.

Mrs. Fred Unstead, Clarksburg, spent last week here with her mother, Mrs. Mary Berry, returning home Friday. Her mother accompanied her home for a few days' visit there.

The Reverend J. R. Spies accompanied the following members of the local Methodist Youth Fellowship to Fayettville, Ark., Sunday where they attended the M. Y. F. camp meeting being held there. Janice Hansen, Dorothy Johnson, Jerry Wischmeier, Glen Lehman Jr., and Keith Berry, of Ionia.

The regular meeting of the Lincoln Lions Club was held Monday evening.

Mrs. C. W. Jaekel entertaied her club at her home west of town Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. R. Sipes returned to her home here the last of the week after enjoying a visit of several weeks in New Mexico with her daughter and husband and their new baby.

Old Filling Station Gives Way to Duplex

The old filling station at 20th and Grand has come down after having stood for over 40 years, and being unoccupied for a good number of those years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greer are now erecting a duplex on the same lot, using the lumber which came out of the filling station. The duplex will house two families, having three spacious rooms to each side, and one bath.

Greer is doing most of the work himself, with two of his "fishing buddies" giving him a helping hand. Due to their grocery store across the street, Greer is doing all of his work at night.

They expect to complete the job by September.

Brownies Enjoy Week of Day Camp Activity And Fun, With Stunts on Friday at the Park

By Hazel Lang

The Brownie Camp at Liberty Park came to a close Friday afternoon after a week of real activity, starting at 9 a.m. each day and closing at 2 p.m.

From ropes stretched from tree to tree hung brown paper sacks with names printed in crayola. Those bags contained lunches and after the noon hour was over the bags were hung again on the ropes until the bus came to take the little girls home.

The camp opened each morning with the flag ceremony, and singing, games and dancing followed.

The story hour came just after the rest period and was one of the things the youngsters liked best.

It is quite a sight to see all the little girls seated on the ground with their song sheets, singing their favorite little songs—some of them singing loudly, their eyes shining, and others just following along. But most of them loved the singing and showed it.

One of the units made pin cushions from a half circle of material and stuffed them with sawdust.

"Mine looks like a turnip", said one of the little Brownies.

"See mine", said another, and she held up a pin cushion that looked like a big strawberry only it was all green instead of red.

"That would look like a strawberry if it were red," said someone.

"It's a green strawberry", smiled up another little girl.

Bracelets and necklaces of luster lace were made by the youngsters in all colors and most of them combinations of two colors.

"It costs a nickel to make one of these", a little Brownie said as she showed her bracelet, "And a dime to make that", she went on as she pointed to a little blue and white necklace worn by another girl.

They made things out of thin wire, too, that they could bend into all kinds of shapes.

One unit gathered leaves and put them on pieces of paper. Then, with toothbrushes and squares of screen, they splatter painted. The pattern of the leaf is left on the paper, making a very pretty design.

Some of the girls go swimming under adult supervision and of course there is always a first aid lady on hand in case something should happen to a little Brownie. There is a doctor and ambulance on call all the time.

On a pallet near the girls were some future Brownies. Martha, two years old, liked the singing.

"I can sing, too", said Martha, but the trouble with Martha was that she didn't know the Brownie songs. She had learned the songs off the little records on her record player and they just weren't the songs that the Brownie's sang, so she couldn't sing with them.

On Monday there were 148 Brownies at the camp, the largest number ever to attend Brownie Camp. The bus picked them up at the different schools and took them to the park, then returned for them at 2 p.m. to take them back to the schools.

The program which ended the Brownie Camp for the year was woven around the theme of the camp, "Love For World Neighbors," and each of the units took a different country. Unit 2 was Holland and they wore little Dutch caps and sang Dutch songs; Unit 3, China, had a tea party and some of them were dressed in Chinese costumes. Unit 4 had Mexico, and the youngsters made tamborines and had a dance. Unit 5, Germany dressed in German costumes and sang Brahm's "Lullabye". Unit 6, chose Hawaii, and the little girls made their own grass skirts out of brown paper to put on their Hawaii dances. Unit 7 was India, but the youngsters couldn't find anything on India so they had a program on trees; Unit No. 8 had Spain, and gave a Spanish act. Unit No. 9 had Korea, singing a song in Korean and using artificial flowers they had made.

The Korean program was in keeping with the theme of the camp and a large decorated box was used to put in things for the Kits for Korea. Each morning the little Brownie's sang the "Hymn of Scouting" and youngsters put in the box such things as soap, toothbrushes, tooth paste and other things that will be used later to fill kits for Korean children. Later the little kits will be filled with the things from the box and the box that was at the Girl Scout Camp.

The Brownies studied about the Korean children from packets from Korea about their way of living and their religion.

Mrs. William Woodcock was camp director and Mrs. Duane McMullen was assistant. Mrs. Orville Perkins was registrar.

Those assisting at the camp were: Mrs. Betty Wilding, Mrs. Herman Logan, Mrs. Rosemary Schoenen, Mrs. Martha Deck, Mrs. Mary Ellis, Mrs. Marjorie West, Mrs. Harry Burford, Mrs. Jerry Drenon, Miss Mary Alice Long, Mrs. Ralph Strader.

Mrs. Mildred Barr, Mrs. Bryon Gates, Mrs. Walker Vaughan, Mrs. Doris Leftwich, Mrs. Charlene Sloan, Mrs. Willa Raker, Mrs. Carl Bellamy, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Cleo Reed, Mrs. William Sims, Mrs. Roy Shoemaker.

Mrs. Evelyn McNally, Mrs. Leo Bopp, Mrs. Leo Coxan, Mrs. Irene Spears, Mrs. Betty Sparks, Mrs. Frances Merrill, Mrs. Gay Arnett, Mrs. Lee Redmond, Mrs. Beverly Seitzinger, Mrs. Lillian Ross, Mrs. Gerhardt Jaeger, Mrs. Robert Long, Mrs. Blanch Grady, Barbara Grady, Mrs. Jo Gibson.

Mrs. Ruth Schmidt, Mrs. Elmer Helgedick, Mrs. Dick Battles, Beth Staley, Mrs. Evelyn Painter, Mrs. Marcella Hurley, Mrs. Marian McCarty, Mrs. Louetta Eckles, Mrs. Dorothy Ault, Mrs. Esther Cooper and Mrs. Dorothy Warbritton.

Mrs. G. G. Hopkins, president of the Sedalia Council of Girl Scouts and Mrs. P. Cecil Owens, chairman, were in charge of Elfin camp where the tiny children of women who were helping at the Brownie Camp were cared for and entertained.

Brownies attending the camp were: Unit two, Catherine Ann Coxon, Katherine Ann Gibson, Patricia Hurley, Carol Sue Schoenen, Donna Logan, Sharon Deck, Susan McCarty, Janice Pummill, and Bobbie Spears;

Unit three, Linda Jo Wofford, Shirley Klein, Patty Hayes, Barbara Burford, Cynthia Lower, Kay Cairer, Donna Warbritton, Linda Strader, Linda Barr and Linda Ross;

Unit four, Sharlon Brown, Susan Glenn;

Unit 5, Donna Ruth Garrison, Leona Spears, Dotty Martin, Judy Kreisel, Arlene Mulbery, Nanette Yancey, Janie Gray and Barbara Williams;

Unit six, Carol Kueck, Myra Arbogast, Pamela Long, Joyce Deane Stewart, Suzanne Sims, Louise Lange, Judith Acker, Karen McNally, Nickie Stauffacher, Joyce Schupp;

Unit seven, Beth Battles, Mary Jane Coxon, Mary Agnes Walze, Peggy Bales, Delia Marie Baldwin and Kathy Hayes;

Unit eight, Karen Sparks, Sandra Hicks, Susie Wheeler, Ethel North and Valmeta Schrader; Unit nine, Barbara Adams, Dorothy Alexander, Marilyn Lowe, Jill Ragland, Karen Ann Steele, Alice Lee Vogel, Ginger Chapman and Mary Procter.

Miss Nistendirk Attends Library Meet This Week

Miss Verna Nistendirk, Boonslick regional librarian, is attending the annual conference of the American Library Association in Minneapolis this week. While there she will attend an institute on library buildings. She says she feels that this is most important since both Boonville and Sedalia have inadequate space for their headquarters and must have buildings before long.

"Cooperation among Libraries" is the theme of a series of programs for county and regional libraries. On Tuesday morning Miss Nistendirk appeared on a panel discussion on this subject and talked about contractual agreements between libraries and she also discussed the Missouri Libraries Film Cooperative as one form of a contractual agreement.

Visitors to this library on their way to the conference were Miss Helen Harris, Knoxville, Tenn., librarian, Miss Jane Morey, Duluth, Minn., librarian, Miss Esther Gillman, Dunklin County, Mo., librarian, Miss Esther Mae Henke and Miss Hollis Haynes from the Oklahoma State Library.

Dr. Goodnight Joins Veterinary Staff Of Gouge and Gouge

Dr. Venton D. Goodnight, 31, formerly of Versailles, has become associated with the Gouge and Gouge Veterinary Hospital, 711 West Main. He was recently graduated from the veterinary school at the University of Missouri.

Dr. Goodnight replaces Dr. Hardin E. Gouge, who has accepted a position in New York.

After completing two years of junior college at Southwest Baptist, Bolivar, Dr. Goodnight served as a Navy Air Force pilot for 25 months, from 1943 to 1945. He then entered the University.

His wife, Virginia, is from Trenton, Mich., where they met while Dr. Goodnight was in the service. They have a seven-year-old daughter, Janice. They are living at 202½ South Prospect.

Bothwell Hogs Top Market at Kansas City

C. R. Bothwell, Sedalia-Hughesville farmer, sold hogs on the Kansas City market Thursday which averaged 229 pounds and brought $24.75, top for the day. They were of his own raising and feeding.

Northside Group Sponsors Second Annual Picnic

The second annual picnic, sponsored by the Northside Citizens Association, will be held July 5 at Hubbard Park.

There will be plenty of hot fish, chicken and hot dogs available as well as other food that goes with a picnic. And for the youngsters, free ice cold lemonade.

The Park Board has given $25 for contests which will include sack races and swimming events.

Another form of entertainment will be dancing at the shelter house.

The picnic last year proved a success, and those in charge feel that this year will be even better.

Pastor's Son Drowns

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Robert R. Cecil, 16, son of the pastor of the Church of God here, drowned yesterday while with two companions on a swimming trip to a lake near here. He was the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Oliver Cecil.

To our Clients & Friends:

As many of you know Dr. Hardin E. Gouge has recently accepted a position in New York, and Mr. Lewis Berkinbile for many years associated with us, has had a serious illness and been unable to be at the Hospital for the past several months, which as a result left us short handed.

However, we are again at full strength. Dr. Venton D. Goodknight has become associated with us in practice and also Mr. Kenneth Ditton as office manager has been with us for several months.

We have added two-way car radios to our practice cars which should greatly assist us and our clients both in the country and town. All phone numbers and office hours will remain the same as in the past.

Sincerely,

Vows to Find What Caused Death of Son

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Marion Thorne says she will find out what caused the death of her son, Montgomery Ward Thorne, "if it takes every dime I have in the world."

Mrs. Thorne, in her first interview since her son was found dead last Saturday, told reporters yesterday she would "leave no stone unturned until I really find out what happened to my boy."

Mystery surrounds the death of the 20-year-old heir to a mail order fortune. An autopsy failed to disclose the cause of his death and chemical tests are being made to establish the cause.

Coroner Walter McCarron said yesterday tests have established that heroin and marijuana were found in Thorne's room. Dr. Henry C. Leon, coroner's physician, said he believes Thorne's death was not due to natural causes. He said liquor, traces of which were found in Thorne's stomach, could cause death if combined with a narcotic.

Told that narcotics had been found in Thorne's room, Mrs. Thorne his mother told reporters:

"I never knew my boy to take drugs. He was a wonderful son. My whole life has been wrapped around him."

Thorne, upon his return to Chicago early this month after his freshman year at Fordham University, New York, did not move into his mother's 15-room apartment in the Lake Shore Drive Gold Coast district.

But Mrs. Thorne, who met reporters in her plush apartment yesterday, said her son was planning to move back with her at the time of his death. Regarding their separation, Mrs. Thorne said she had objected to some of his companions and he told her he would "take a room outside."

A few days before Thorne was found dead he had changed his will, naming his fiancee, Miss Maureen Ragen, 18, as his chief beneficiary. In a previous will made two years ago his mother was the sole beneficiary.

Robert Hogan In Cast Of Play at Missouri U.

Robert Hogan, 1106 South Massachusetts, will appear in the play "See How They Run", to be presented at the Starlight Theater this summer at the University of Missouri.

Robert will play the roll of the bishop in the play, which will be presented in conjunction with the companion play, "Lo and Behold", which will alternate through the season of July 7 to July 31.

According to Prof. Rhynsburger, head of the productions, these plays are unique in college dramatics in the midwest. They are presented in a center circle, with the audience seated on raised platforms on all sides.

His 'Pals' Helped Him Win New Violin Early In Career—

Ira Bronson Still Lives With His Music

By Charles Walch

Ira Bronson, a man whom most lifelong Sedalians know, has really had a wealth of experience.

In interviewing him the other day, it seemed that one experience led to another story, until the collection of events would be too long to print.

Ira was still a very young man when he began to study the violin under one of the true pioneers of Sedalia music, Professor Gregg. Having progressed very well, it became time for his first concerto recital. Young Ira's father, Dr. Ira Bronson, was not known for his amicability concerning music matters. When he first learned of the recital, he told Ira bluntly, "You and your sister will play the concerto 100 times before the recital, and the reward for each of you will be a $5 goldpiece. Ira played the concerto the prescribed 100 times and did receive the goldpiece.

With the goldpiece in his pocket, Ira still had another bridge to cross. His "fiddle" was in bad shape and he did need a new one. He knew, however, that his father was not the type to make a purchase of this sort without some merit behind it. The night before the concert, Dr. Bronson again called his son in for conference, saying that if the performance merited an encore a new violin would await him.

Now encores were no more plentiful at the end of a concerto then than they are now. Ira, being an honest boy, decided that purchased chair warmers for the performance would be illegal, but he slipped up and told some of his pals about the offer — all very innocently. The next day you would have thought the house would come down with applause, for when the concerto was over there sat the pals, cheering for an encore for all they were worth. Yes, it was the same old gang—Leonard Kroenke, Arthur Hoffman, Percy Metcalfe, Charles Hull, Will Wallman and Ben Clay—who had won the new violin for Ira.

The recital was just one of the accomplishments of Ira in the field of music. Continuing violin for a number of years, he decided that he would take up the cello, so that he could help out the First Christian Church with its orchestra. He did this, taking some lessons from Prof. W. B. Hert and some in Kansas City. After contributing his part to the success of this orchestra, Ira kept right on the job. The Sedalia Symphony Orchestra was coming into existence, and Ira did his turn again, now being one of the few remaining charter members of the organization. Two Sedalia bands also had Ira as a member, playing snare drums in each.

It is with the Sedalia Symphony, in which Ira still plays, that his musical heart remains. He rarely misses a rehearsal, and rarer yet is his absence from a concert. Not only is he accomplished on the cello, but he keeps right at his practice today, and hold the first chair position in the group, helping the younger musicians in the orchestra when he can.

Ira's family was musical, too. His mother and father both sang in the Methodist choir, and his sister, Maude, was an accomplished pianist. Blanche, his other sister, did most of his accompanying.

In 1904 Ira went into the printing business, The Bronson Printing Company, located where the Glad-Da-Mo Maternity Shop now is on Third Street. He married the former Ethyl Armstrong in 1905 and she is still "his right arm."

It was in 1907 when Mr. Bronson went to work for the post office here in Sedalia, working nights over half of his years of duty. He retired from work in 1947, completing 40 years of faithful service.

The Bronsons have two children, Mariel, a teacher and musician at Sioux Falls, S. D., and John, who is presently a designing engineer at the Pittsburgh Corning Company. John, before he located here, worked in Wichita, Kan., where he helped design the Boeing B-29 during the war.

The year 1942 was a year of tragedy for the Bronsons, for it was then that their colonial home, north of Sedalia, burned to the ground. Having lived there a good while, it was hard for them to pack up their few remaining things and move to town—but they did.

After his retirement in 1947, Mr. Bronson says that "we just couldn't take it any mroe." They had to move to the country and live with what was left.

There was a little house located about 500 feet from where their one-time mansion stood. They moved back to it, fixing it up to their desires, and there you can find them any time today.

Mr. Bronson has his cello and the same violin which he received as the recital reward over 50 years ago, and plays and practices them frequently. Having numerous compositions of his own, and producing new ones constantly, he keeps busy, either with his music, work around the farm, caring for his bird haven, or photography, which is another one of his second loves.

Mrs. Bronson, in asking her to be in the pictures and story, modestly said, "This is Ira's story—let's let him have it.

Senators Speed Top Money Bill of Year To the White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators working against a June 30 deadline yesterday sped the biggest money bill of the year to the White House and sent two other appropriations measures to near-final stages.

By voice vote, the Senate okayed $28,800,125,486 to run the nation's armed forces in the fiscal year beginning July 1. This completed congressional action on the mammoth defense measure, which accounts for more than half of President Eisenhower's total budget request of about 56 billion dollars.

Also by voice vote the Senators sent two House-passed bills to Senate-House conference:

1. A measure granting the Labor Department 299 million dollars and the Health-Education-Welfare Department $1,681,000,000.

2. A record $170,438,847 appropriations for District of Columbia operations next year.

Differences between the Senate and House versions are ironed out in conference committees, after which the bills are returned to each chamber for final action.

Number of Autos In Sedalia Jumps Third Since '40

Perhaps there is a reason Sedalia's streets seem crowded and traffic problems keep bobbing up.

And perhaps that reason is the increase in the number of cars owned and operated by Sedalians. Since 1940 the number has increased more than one third, with the number edging upward year by year.

The number of car stickers sold by the city in 1940 was 3,295 and in 1953 there were 5,060 distributed. The 1954 stickers are now on sale and must be on by July 1.

Here's the year by year totals for car sticker sales in Sedalia to indicate and show the car population's upward trend:

1941—3372	1948—3935
1942—2950	1949—4443
1943—2881	1950—4698
1944—2888	1951—4786
1945—1999	1952—4937
1946—3429	1953—5060

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — A 17-year-old senior at Southwest High School in St. Louis drowned yesterday while trying to swim from a leaking outboard motorboat to the shore of the Mississippi River 10 miles from here.

The victim was Russell Froehly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Froehly of St. Louis.

St. Louis Co. Cuts Sprinkling of Lawns

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis County residents were asked today not to sprinkle their lawns between 3 p. m. and 10 p.m. (CDT) until the drought breaks.

The St. Louis County Water Co. reported county residents used 77 million gallons of water yesterday, a record for the summer, as the temperature soared to 100 degrees in St. Louis and 102 at the Municipal Airport.

It was the area's hottest day of the summer and the temperatures set records for the date in both the city and at the airport.

Drinks committee — Chairman, Mrs. Ralph Chaney, Bryson Valley; assistant chairman, Mrs. Forrest Reid, Prairie Ridge; Mrs. Floyd Egbert, Bryson Valley; Mrs. Ernest Schlobohm, Oak Grove; Mrs. Frank Breon, Three Corners.

Clean-up committee — Chairman, Ralph Grimes, Beaman-Arator; assistant chairman, Mrs. Finis Benware, Manila; Lee Dow, Georgetown; Mrs. Stuart Allen, Eldorado; and Mrs. Oscar Kemp, Dresden.

Hostess committee — Chairman, Mrs. Arthur Mahin, Three Corners; assistant chairman, James Bradley, Ringen Brushy; Mrs. L. I. Patrick, Striped College; Raymond Kahrs, Smithton; and Mrs. Bob Brown, Brown 4-H.

Program committee—Chairman, Jody Reine, Tanglenook. The balance of the program committee will be composed of the executive committee of the 4-H Council. They are Glenn Stockstill, Gail Demand, Ruby Fay Silsby, Pete Siegel, R. D. Kahrs, Joyce Snow, Dale Norfleet, Jo Ann Nicholson and Marcie Rissler.

Square dance committee — Chairman, Carl Landis, Maplewood; assistant chairman, Garnett Haggard, Brown; Frank Norfleet, Prairie Ridge; Forrest Reid, Prairie Ridge; John Rissler, Maplewood; Floyd Schlusing, Ringen Brushy; Jack Alfrey, Quisenberry; Charles Keele, Flat Creek; and Stuart Allen, Eldorado.

Table committee—Chairman, C. H. Williams, Tanglenook; assistant chairman, Howard Brown, Smithton; Bill Williams, Maplewood; Bobby and J. D. Schlobohm, Oak Grove; Jake Wissman, Flat Creek; Jimmy Dunham and Harry Runge, Georgetown; R. D. Kahrs, Smithton; Dean Raines, Longwood Neighbors.

An event of this size would be an impossible task without the work of these committee chairmen and their committees. There will be approximately 140 committee members for this event.

Glenn Stockstill Leaving

Glenn Stockstill, ninth year 4-H member from South Abell and president of the 4-H Council, told us at our last council committee meeting that he had joined the Marines. Glenn said that he thought he was being sent to San Diego for boot training. While we hate to lose Glenn, I am sure that everyone wishes Glenn "lots of luck."

Singleton Unable to Judge

Rollo Singleton, assistant commissioner of the State Department of Agriculture, just notified me that he would be unable to judge our 4-H County Livestock Show. In accordance with the request of the Farm Bureau livestock committee, Doug Cason, agricultural director of KMMO, Marshall, has been written.

Missouri State Fair Catalogues Available

All 4-H leaders who think that their club members may be interested in entering either agriculture or home economics products in the 4-H division of the State Fair should request a catalogue. State Fair catalogues may be obtained by writing Ross Ewing, secretary of Missouri State Fair, Sedalia. The catalogue will provide you with the necessary information about entry regulations, health requirements, classes, etc.

Excellent State Club Week

The 640 Pettis County 4-H clubbers can certainly be proud of the State Club Week delegates who represented them at the state-wide event. Glen Stockstill, president of the county council, attended the State 4-H Council meeting. Jo Ann Nicholson of Hillview 4-H was nominated as secretary on the state council. She received the second highest number of votes, Miss O'Briant tells me.

Jack Jackson Here In September

Jack Jackson, agricultural director of KCMO, will be at the September 4-H council meeting to give a slide talk on his trips through Europe The 4-H council plans to be host to any 4-H leaders, parents or members who would like to attend.

Control Horn Flies

This time of year there is always considerable interest in horn fly control. This interest is certainly justified since horn flies can reduce livestock profits. Control measures should be taken as soon as flies get bad. Two practical methods of application of insecticides are spraying or the cable-type back-rubbers.

The control measures for beef cattle are different from those for dairy cattle. Since DDT cannot be used on dairy cattle, four tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor powder or five tablespoons of 25 per cent methoxychlor emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water should be used. You should repeat treatments when an average of 10 to 15 hornflies are on your cattle.

The spray recommended for beef cattle is four tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable DDT or five tablespoons of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate or two tablespoons of 65 per cent emulsifiable concentrate toxaphene per gallon of water.

The cable type back rubber that I mentioned in my column of May 21 will work for either dairy or beef cattle. It is charged with one quart of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate in one gallon of fuel oil. It usually requires about a gallon of this mixture to charge the back rubber the first time and two quarters to recharge it every two weeks.

Incidentally, this would be an excellent topic for a demonstration by livestock or dairy project members. For more information about construction of the back rubber, call at the County Extension office at 118½ West Third.

Junior Leadership Camp

Joe Welliver of Flat Creek 4-H and Eileen Bahner of Striped College 4-H will leave for the State Junior Leaders Camp tomorrow, June 28. They will return July 2. These 4-H'ers were selected by the Farm Bureau Rural Youth Committee. They based their selection upon information on application blanks submitted by junior leaders interested in attending the camp.

The Sedalia Kiwanis Club is paying the travel expenses of the two delegates to Clover Point on the Lake of the Ozarks. This is a part of the Kiwanis Club's agricultural program of which H. L. Pack is chairman.

National BPW Convention Opening Today In St. Louis

Helen G. Irwin

ST. LOUIS—Nationally-known figures in government, education and business will address the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc., which opens today here, where the organization was founded in 1919. All sessions, to be held in the Opera House of Kiel Auditorium, will follow the theme of "Training Women for Full Citizenship in a Free World."

Dr. Lynn T. White Jr., president, Mills College, Oakland, Calif., M. F. Ashley Montagu, author and lecturer of Princeton, N.J., and Mrs. Lena E. Ebeling, personnel director of Sherwin-Williams Co., will participate in a dicsussion of training women for responsible citizenship tomorrow at 8 p.m. Miss Margaret Hickey, past-president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc., and public affairs editor of the Ladies Home Journal, will moderate the discussion.

Senators John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), and George Malone (R-Nev.), will speak on "Full Citizenship for Women," at 8 p.m. Tuesday, also in the opera house. Both sessions are open to the public.

Other convention programs will be open only to official delegates, approximately 3500 in number, who will represent the approximately 160,000 members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc., located all over the United States, Alaska, and Hawaii. Miss Helen G. Irwin of Des Moines, Ia., is national president, and Mrs. Warren Becker of St. Louis, chairman of the convention.

Delegates will be welcomed by the Missouri Federation of Business and Professional Women, the hostess group, at the opening session of the convention tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A pageant, "Victorius Nike," will depict the history and development of the organization.

Business sessions will begin at 9 a.m. daily through Friday for convention delegates at the opera house in Kiel Auditorium. The convention body is expected to consider recommendations for national legislation which would effect opportunity for women citizens. Preceding the morning sessions on Wednesday and Thursday (June 30 and July 1), Cylvia Sorkin, St. Louis business consultant, will conduct self-improvement classes.

A "Missouri Fun Fest," beginning at 2 p.m., Wednesday has been planned by the hostess organization for the delegates' entertainment. Chartered buses will take the visitors to points of interest about St. Louis, including the St. Louis Art Museum, Jefferson Memorial, and St. Louis Zoo, climaxed by a picnic supper in Forest Park, square dancing, and an evening at the Municipal Opera.

Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, chairman, Department of Economics, Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., former Minister of Finance in Hungary, will speak at the birthday banquet celebrating the 35th anniversary of the founding of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, Inc., at 7 p.m., Thursday, in the Convention Hall of Kiel Auditorium.

Final session of the biennial convention will close at 3:30 p.m., Friday with installation of new national officers.

The "Rock of the Marne" division, which saw bitter fighting in the Iron Triangle and at Outpost Harry, is now training as part of the U. S. security force on the peninsula.

Miller, a radio operator in the division, entered the Army during October, 1953, completed basic training at Fort Riley, Kan., and arrived in Korea last month.

Rules Drug Explosion June 10 Was Accident

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled yesterday that an explosion at a drug company plant which fatally injured six workers June 10 was accidental and was caused by the explosion of a powder mixture the firm was processing for use in army flame throwers.

The blast demolished the plant of the Wilson-Keith Co., and damaged several adjoining buildings.

Richard B. Dempsey, assistant circuit attorney, announced after the verdict that the inquest testimony will be reviewed to determine whether the case should be submitted to a grand jury.

Freighter Trip Is Good Idea For Vacation

By CHARLES MERCER

BOSTON, June 26 (AP)—The ship's whistle blasted melancholy notes through the gathering darkness and the nudging tug bleated in reply. The lines were tied, the gangway lowered. Another vacation was over.

But yours is probably yet to come. If so, there are more unusual ways to enjoy it than you at first imagine. One is to take a freighter trip.

Along the coasts of this country and to remote spots sail innumerable ships which carry a few passengers besides the mixed cargoes of commerce. Many which go to the most obscure foreign ports are of foreign registry. But all plying U. S. coastal ports are American.

Aboard one of these, the U. S. Chickasaw of the Waterman Steamship Corp., this traveler and his wife arrived here after an eight-day voyage from New Orleans by way of Panama City, Fla. and Tampa.

The freight lines don't advertise their passenger service widely, though practically any travel agency can arrange almost any kind of trip you want. But they fill their passenger cabins with a steady stream of freight-travel enthusiasts, a special breed who like quiet, the sea and low-priced vacations.

Passage on the Chickasaw from New Orleans, for example, cost each of the nine passengers aboard $120 plus 10 per cent tax. For this you receive an outside stateroom with shower, plenty of closet space, two comfortable lower bunks, two easy chairs—the whole much more commodious than any cabin-class accommodation on a transatlantic passenger ship.

Food, included in the passage cost, was good. It wasn't the six-course fare of the transatlantic monarchs, but to an average eater it was palatable and plentiful. Passengers eat in the officers' dining room on a freighter. The hours are fixed and unfashionable—7:30 for breakfast; 11:30 for "dinner"; 5 p. m. for "supper." There was no discernible difference in the quantity and quality of food served at "dinner" and "supper" on the Chickasaw.

Informal dress is de rigeur on freighter. For eight days this traveler did not wear a tie or jacket—a happy state that must lead many a man to the sea. One officer recalled the skipper of one freighter who insisted on jackets in the dining room. After a while he no longer was the skipper of a freighter. Vive nonconformity!

"But what," people ask, "do you do on a freighter?"

You sit. You relax. You contemplate the endlessly varying scapes of sea and sky. And when you go ashore in ports you never expected to see you have all the fun of—naturally—sailors on shore leave.

In years past this traveler has had vigorous vacations that included canoe trips, small-boat cruises, mountain hiking junkets with 40-pound pack; he has played golf badly, tennis fair, and ridden horseback just once, but never again. So this is the first vacation in which he did not suffer from blisters, mosquito bites, sunburn or that dreadful atrophy of the seat acquired from endlessly driving a car down the highways.

He took his exercise in a comfortable deck chair supplied at no extra charge. He read six books he's wanted to read for a long time. Turning carefully before the sun, he toasted a golden brown while gazing at the blue waters of the Gulf Stream, where porpoises leaped gracefully. Occasionally he bestirred himself of the galley, where the coffee was always hot, and often chewed the fat with an off-watch officer or two.

The officers and crew of the Chickasaw — from the skipper, Capt. Samuel G. Wonson, on down—are courteous. More important, they're interesting in the way of nearly all men whose work brings them close to the elements of sea and land and weather. The sea, for instance, seems to cultivate the art of storytelling. Future passengers are urged to ask Capt. Wonson about his dog back home in Mobile.

The 6,131-ton Chickasaw, bearing salt and rice and gums, cleared her New Orleans wharf in midafternoon.

There are many things to see and do around every American port while your freighter loads and unloads her cargo. During 24 hours in Panama City, while the winches sang to the loading of paper, three travelers chipped in and rented a fishing boat. The fish were biting that afternoon in the Gulf. In three hours they pulled in 124, mostly mackeral and blues—fish for everybody at next night's supper. Later they had a long swim from the vast white beach in the clear, grenadine waters.

For an inexpensive summer buffet, serve grilled frankfurters with macaroni and cheese and a salad. The salad might be one of tomatoes and cucumbers, cabbage and carrot slaw, or tossed greens.

Famous Crimes—

Curious Cop Finds 2 Bodies In Car, Teen-Ager Condemned

By BILL LANGZETTEL

SOUTH PARIS, Maine, une 26 (AP)—It was early morning, Oct. 16, 1937. A curious cop, patrolling his beat in North Arlington, walked over to check on the car with the Maine license plates parked in a vacant lot.

Sound asleep at the wheel was Paul N. Dwyer, 18. Stuffed into the trunk was the body of Dr. James G. Littlefield. Under the rear seat was the body of Dr. Littlefield's wife. Both had been strangled.

Thus opened a murder case contaning what Dwyer and his lawyers were later to call "an epitome of incongruity"—two men serving life sentences on the charge of having committed individually a single crime.

Frail and pallid, Dwyer told New Jersey police he killed the doctor three days earlier in the bathroom of the Dwyer home in Paris Hil, Maine. The doctor had called on the youth to treat him for a lingering ailment.

"The doctor said a girl I had been going around with was pregnant," Dwyer said in a statement. "I hit him. I took my belt and strangled him and hit him several times with a hammer."

He said he carried the 64-year-old physician's body to his car. Telling Mrs. Littlefield her husband was in trouble, Dwyer drove her — and the body — to Boston, Concord, N. H., and back into Maine.

Near the little town of New Gloucester, he stopped.

"I was so tired I apparently let something slip," Dwyer said.

Mrs. Littlefield, suspicious, charged him with harming her husband, the youth declared. He strangled her and took $250 from her purse to finance the six-state flight which ended in New Jersey.

Returned to his home, Dwyer changed his story. Robbery was the only motive, he said then, "and the girl angle was a big mistake."

His story was backed up by acquaintances, who said Dwyer had "a mania for easy money" to finance his dates with girls.

When he went on trial in November, Dwyer's jailer was Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll, father of Dwyer's teen-age sweetheart, a pretty, buxom girl named Barbara.

Before the state's case was complete, Dwyer pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

But public interest refused to die down. A rumor started, and for five months South Paris stewed in speculation. Then Deputy Carroll was arrested—on a charge of incest with 18-year-old Barbara, eldest of his five children.

He was indicted by the same grand jury that indicted Dwyer. But the charge wasn't incest. It was the murder of Dr. Littlefield.

Carroll's trial in the century-old South Paris courthouse filled two hot, humid, sensation-packed weeks of August 1938.

Ralph M. Ingalls, a brilliant trial lawyer from Portland drafted as special prosecutor, drew this story from his star witness—the pale and nervous Dwyer:

Barbara had written Paul of the alleged incest. He told the doctor. While Littlefield was examining Paul at the Dwyer home, Carroll came into the house. Dr. Littlefield threatened to expose him.

The husky, 43-year-old Carroll slugged the old man on the head, first with a hammer, then with the butt of his pistol, and garroted him with Dwyer's belt. He forced Dwyer to give up the incriminating letters.

Through hours of grueling cross-examination, the boy stuck to the story and its sequel—that Carroll helped him load the body into the doctor's car and that Carroll, not Dwyer, strangled Mrs. Littlefield in South Paris the next day.

A state witness, Miss Hazel Talbot, told of seeing Carroll near the Dwyer home the night the doctor was slain. And the sheriff's officer admitted losing a cigarette lighter just like one police found in Dwyer's driveway.

As visual evidence of Dwyer's inability to carry the doctor's 150-pound body alone, Ingalls had the boy strip to the waist and bare his puny shoulders to the jury. Clyde R. Capman, an ex-attorney general defending Carroll, countered by having a 102-pound boy hoist a 150-pounder to his shoulders.

Ingalls, claiming that the diamond pattern on Carroll's gun butt fitted wounds in the doctor's head, thundered at the jury:

"The gun evidence seals his doom."

Barbara, who went dancing one night during the trial, did not testify. Her mother, Mrs. Ruby Carroll, corroborated in part her husband's defense testimony - that he was with her at a Legion supper the night Dr. Littlefield died. And he said he was in Reading, Mass., when Dwyer claimed he was strangling Mrs. Littlefield. It took the jury of 12 men five hours to find Carroll guilty. He went to prison protesting his innocence.

Why wasn't Dwyer freed when Carroll went to prison?

State officials argued that both men were guilty - that Dyer, even though his testimony convinced the jury of Carroll's guilt, was clearly an accomplice.

The case still was far from closed. In 1939 the Legislature refused to investigate it anew. Two years later Dwyer was denied a pardon. In 1949 he lost another plea for clemency. Carroll also lost a plea for pardon that year.

In the background, investigation still went on. Ingalls had died. One of his aides never had been satisfied that Carroll was guilty. Leon P. Shepard, retired state police captain, took his story to Stanley L. Bird, a lawyer and former FBI agent.

Shepard said he had told Ingalls before the trial that the gun butt did not fit Dr. Littlefield's head wounds. And he said Ingalls had replied: "Well, make the damned thing fit."

Bird worked five years, without compensation, preparing the case he took before Superior Court Justice Albert Beliveau in 1950.

Beliveau cited Shepard's testimony in concluding that the trial savored of conspiracy by the prosecution. He said the conviction of Carroll was a "gross miscarriage of justice" and that the prosecution had practiced "fraud and deceit" on judge and jury.

He noted that footprints of Dwyer and the doctor were the only ones on the bloody bathroom floor; that the gun with which Carroll was supposed to have struck the doctor had been admitted into evidence without any testimony that it was a murder weapon; that a pencilled notation on a writ Carroll claimed to have served the night of the slaying had been erased—after Ingalls saw it.

Carroll was released from prison —12 years after his conviction— on a writ of habeas corpus.

Soon after, the incest charge against him was dropped.

But the Legislature twice refused to compensate him for the years he spent behind bars. It did order a new probe, however.

After a year's investigation, James P. Archibald concluded:

There is "reasonable and honest doubt" that Carroll had anything to do with either of the murders. And Dewey probably told the truth in his original statement made in New Jersey.

The special assistant attorney general also made these points:

No fingerprints of Carroll were found in the Dwyer bathroom, although they might have been expected in view of the struggle Dwyer described.

Dwyer never implicated Carroll, even to his mother, until after he went to prison.

Two women placed Dwyer in Portsmouth, N. H., with an elderly woman at the time he claimed Carroll was killing Mrs. Littlefield —for whose death nobody ever has been tried.

Carroll now works as a carpenter here, living quietly with his 86-year-old mother, Mrs. Mabel Carroll. His wife—their marriage was annulled after Carroll became a lifer and she subsequently re-married—now lives in Malden, Mass. Barbara, now Mrs. Anthony Nutile, lives near her.

And Dwyer, now 35, is trying to follow the path to freedom used by Carroll, his ex-jailer.

His petition for a writ of habeas corpus, drawn up in prison, soon will be heard by a Maine Supreme Court justice.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I wish to correct a mistake which was made in a news item which appeared recently in these newspapers, which stated I would have the first three of thirty brick and stone homes completed "within the next month" in my new PARK HILL SUBDIVISION.

This item should have read that the first three homes would be started within a month.

This new subdivision is located between State Fair Boulevard and Limit Avenue — South 65 Highway — on 10th, 11th and 14th Streets.

You are cordially invited to look this property over.

These new homes will be VA and FHA financed.

World Crisis Specter Haunts US Leadership

Editor's Note—William L. Ryan has just returned from an around the world trip. He talked with scores of persons in a position to know the trends in Asia, Africa, Europe—and at the Geneva conference. Home again, he checked his findings with informed officials in Washington. Here is Ryan's frank appraisal.

By William L. Ryan
AP Foreign News Analyst

WASHINGTON, June 26—(AP)—The specter of world crisis haunts Washington today.

There is heavy gloom among those who came back empty-handed from the Geneva conference. There is a general recognition it might have been far better if the conference had never been held.

The atmosphere seems reminiscent of Munich, 1938. Then Adolf Hitler announced Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland would be his last territorial claim. In the hope of "peace in our time," the Western European Allies appeased him. Britain guaranteed Poland's frontiers. But Hitler moved into Poland in 1939. The world realized he had no intention of halting his expansion. World War II exploded.

Viet Nam could be today's Sudetenland. Laos, Cambodia or almost any place in Southeast Asia could be tomorrow's Poland, the point where the free world might decide to halt totalitarian expansion.

This crisis of American world leadership had its beginnings four years ago this week, when the United States, backed by the United Nations, drew a line in Korea and announced to Moscow: Beyond this line you will not go.

The free world could halt an open, naked act of aggression. But there was a different sort of aggression taking place elsewhere in Asia—an aggression by internal subversion, by the capture of an internal nationalism, by a long, nagging war of attrition in Indochina.

Here is how the crisis came about:

A year ago the Soviet Union was off balance. Stalin had just died. A struggle for power raged in the Kremlin. It was a time for a confident diplomatic assault upon the Soviet Union, in an attempt to make Moscow back up. The West, with U. S. leadership, undertook to do that.

Time after time, the United States demanded the Soviet Union agree to a conference to settle the problems of divided Austria and Germany. Moscow, in no mood for a conference, time after time parried the bid until world sentiment was beginning to turn sharply against the Kremlin.

Then, last November, Moscow did a sudden turnabout and agreed to meet the Western foreign ministers in Berlin. That meeting came off in January. For the West it was a propaganda victory, since the Soviet Union was obliged to forestall all hope of agreement. But the victory was all too temporary. The wily Vyacheslav M. Molotov proposed a meeting in Geneva which would include Communist China, contending that the dangerous problems of the world were indivisible.

Girls' State Names National Delegates

FULTON, Mo., June 26—(AP)—The Missouri Girls' State today elected Edna MacDonald of St. Joseph and Joyce Pennington of Independence as delcates to the Girl's Union.

Miss MacDonald is the Girls' State governor and Miss Pennington was her opponent in the election for the governorship.

Dorothy Rodina of Kansas City and Maureen Vincent, Joplin, were named alternates.

Barbara James of Joplin, a 1953 delegate, explained the procedures of the Girls' Nation to the Girls' State group.

This year's national meeting will be in Washington July 31-Aug. 6.

A talent show and a candelight ceremony were on tonight's program. The Girls' State will end at noon tomorrow.

216,243 Jobs Wiped Off

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The "unnecessary" federal jobs wiped uot since President Eisenhower took office totaled 216,243 on June 1, Chairman Rees (R-Kan) of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee reported today.

Rees said this included a cut of 5,054 government positions during May.

Saying government administrators had come a "long way" toward meeting the administration goal of eliminating 250,000 positions, Rees said the cut so far achieved will save the taxpayers 851 million dollars a year.

Considerate Thieves

TULSA, Okla., June 26—(AP)—Considerate thieves? Mrs. Edna Swain wonders.

Dr. Schanz and his family will leave for New York City about July 1. They will reside at River Edge, N. J., where he has purchased a house.

Conference Committee Cuts Interior Budget

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—A House-Senate conference committee today approved a $404,936,149 money bill to finance the Interior Department for the year beginning July 1.

This was $22,814,961 below budget estimate, and $22,664,857 below the amount approved by the Senate.

However, the figure was $40,598,160 higher than originally allowed by the House.

The conference committee's report is expected under normal procedure to be taken up in the House Monday. The report must be adopted by the House and the Senate before the bill goes to the President.

The conference committee agreed upon a total reclamation construction program of $124,394,002, of which $127,637,000 would be new money.

Fires In The City

The Sedalia Fire Department made a run to 102 East Broadway at 8:50 p.m. Friday to extinguish a fire from a stuck dishwasher motor.

Loss was estimated at 50 dollars.

A run was made by the Sedalia Fire Department about 10:21 p.m. Friday to 904 West 11th where a refrigerator motor had caught fire. The blaze was out on arrival of the trucks.

There was an estimated 50 dollars loss.

Accidents

Harry W. Meyer Jr., Otterville, was involved in an accident as he was driving east on US Highway 50 on the Otterville Hill about 4:30 p. m. Friday.

Some other unidentified driver pulled out on the right while three other cars were coming in the opposite direction. Meyers headed for the ditch on the right side of the highway and turned over.

He suffered laceration of the scalp and injuries to the back and legs.

Meyer was taken to the Woodland Hospital where he was treated for his injuries. He was later dismissed from the hospital.

Slight damage resulted to two automobiles in the 200 block on East Sixth about 11:15 a. m. Saturday. Involved were a 1950 Cadillac sedan of Mrs. Leon Swope, 217 East Sixth, and a 1949 Chevrolet, driven by Mrs. Daisy Parker, 2106 East Seventh.

In parking, the Chevrolet was reported to have pulled in too close to the parked Cadillac and the right rear fenders on both cars were damaged.

Police Court

Reynaldo "Sonny" Buso, 315 East Harvey, charged with double parking at Fifth and Ohio, forfeited a $2 cash bond.

Raymond Wilson, 39, of 204 West Pettis, charged with assault on Barbara Wilson, 708 West Pettis, was fined $25 by Judge R. L. Weinrich in police court Saturday morning. Wilson pleaded guilty. He was accused by the woman as having used a knife to cut her on the face.

Paul Hoellering, 17, California, charged with careless driving on Broadway, failed to appear in police court Saturday and his $25 cash bond was ordered forfeited.

According to the police report, Hollering had an entry on his driver's license for speeding at Boonville.

Claude Campbell, 31, Sedalia Air Force Base, charged with speeding 50 miles per hour, failed to appear in police court and his $15 cash bond was ordered forfeited.

Police Reports

A parking meter was broken off at Fifth and Ohio sometime Saturday morning. It was taken to police headquarters.

The Potter's Grocery, 2118 East Broadway, was broken into by a thief Friday night sometime prior to 9:42 p. m. and $29.91 in money was taken from the cash register. The robbery was discovered by Robert N. Potter who went to check the cash register.

Later a 10-year-old boy was talked to by the police and he turned the money over to the police who in turn gave it to Potter. No prosecution was desired on the child.

Police were notified at 1:15 a. m. Saturday a man was beating a woman in a Buick car which was parked on the Green Ridge Road near the Memorial Park Cemetery. The State Patrol was notified, but the car was gone when officers arrived.

A 1950 Buick sedan belonging to W. C. Eckles, 1420 South Ohio, was found about 7:30 a. m. Saturday jammed down in a ditch on the West Main Street Road, about a mile and a half from the city limits.

Police investigating the finding of the car notified the owner who had just noted the car was missing when the police notified him the car had been found.

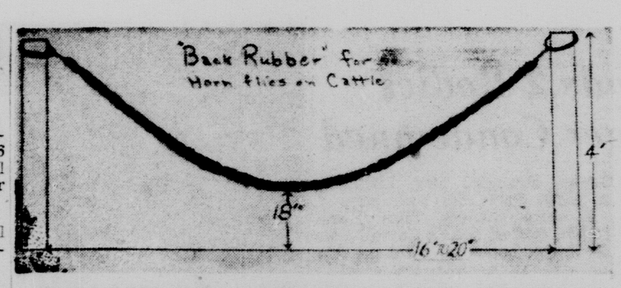

The thieves evidently used it for a joy ride, then wrecked it in the ditch. Not only did they run the car into the ditch, but they ripped off a sun visor, threw away two cigarette lighters and ash trays, and threw away a child's car seat.

The upholstering on the back seat was ripped by the intruders.

Tommy Biggs, 1636 South Carr, reported to the police that sometime Thursday evening thieves stole a .22 caliber nine-shot pistol from his car while parked in the 600 block on East 11th, also took a hand tooled holster.

Police investigated some boys shooting birds in the 1300 block on South Carr about 10:30 a. m. Saturday. When the officers arrived the boys had disappeared.

CABLE-TYPE BACK RUBBERS are giving good results for cattlemen (see sketch above.) These are made by stringing a core of barbed wire (three strands wrapped around a fourth strand) between two posts set about 16 to 20 feet apart. Gunny sacks are wrapped around this core and tied with binder twine. The core should be attached about four feet up on the posts and should hang about 18 inches of the ground at the center. Use an iron ring or wire loop to attach core to posts. Soak sacks with 5 per cent DDT oil spray (can be made by mixing one quart 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate in four quarts of fuel oil). It normally takes about a gallon of insecticide to soak the sacks the first time and about two quarts applied every two weeks to keep the rubber "charged." The cattle walk under the back rubber and it whisks off the flies and leaves some of the DDT on the animal's back to keep the flies away for at least a while.

Critical Water Shortage Hitting St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS, June 26 (AP)—A water shortage in St. Louis County became critical today and officials in suburban Webster Groves declared an emergency for that community.

City Manager Norville E. Blaske said he was trying to arrange a meeting of the City Council to pass an ordinance barring the sprinkling of lawns or washing of automobiles during the shortage.

He asked auxiliary police to patrol streets and prevent unnecessary use of water. He also asked off duty firemen to stand by in case of emergency.

Blaske said his office was swamped with complaints from residents without water.

W. Victor Weir, president of the St. Louis County Water Co., said increased use of water during the present 100-degree heat was cutting into the firm's reserves but blamed the Webster Groves problem on the city's distribution system which he said was inadequate.

Earlier the water company asked county residents not to sprinkle lawns between 3 p.m. and 10 p.m. until the heat and drought end.

The company said a record 79 million gallons of water was used in the 24 hours ending at 11 a.m. today. This is above the firm's capacity despite improvements made during the winter.

A new booster station, which will bring the capacity to 78 million gallons, will be in service about July 7.

Consumption of water in the city of St. Louis yesterday was 245 million gallons — high but not a record. No shortages were reported in the city.

Mendes-France Is Ready To Talk With Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, June 26—(AP)—The White House reported today that the new French Premier, Pierre-Mendes-France, is ready to take part in "confidential and intimate" talks with President Eisenhower on such burning issues as Indochina and the European defense army.

The French position on talks between the heads of the two governments was contained in a letter from President Rene Coty of France to Eisenhower.

Coty's letter, dated June 23, was in reply to a letter sent by Eisenhower at the time when Mendes-France was organizing a new government after the fall from power of former Premier Joseph Laniel.

Eisenhower had offered "to open new discussions" on Indochinese defense proposals. Coty said the French were "always ready to proceed with the United States government to examine the problems involved in the re-establishment of peace in the Far East."

The French President said his country was likewise prepared to discuss with the United States plans for the defense of Europe.

He did not mention specifically either Indochina or the European Defense Community, but diplomatic sources here said they understood that Coty was referring to these questions in his letter.

Young Democrat Club Organized In Benton County

The Democratic party in Benton County held a meeting in the Community Building at Warsaw, Wednesday, for the purpose of organization a Young Democratic Club. W. W. Wisdom Jr., Tipton, was the principal speaker on the program.

Mr. Wisdom traced the history of the Democratic party from Thomas Jefferson up to the present day. He also reviewed the history of the Young Democratic Clubs which had their beginning in Washington, D. C., in 1932.

The group organized into the Benton County Young Democratic Club and voted to affiliate with the state organization.

Officers elected were: Willard C. Reine, Lincoln, president; Gordon H. Drake, Warsaw, vice-president; Mary Ellen Jones, Cole Camp, secretary; "Jabby" White, Warsaw, publicity chairman; Billy Watkins, Avery treasurer.

Seventy-five young Democrats became members of the club the first night. The club has set a goal of at least 400 and a membership drive is to be conducted within the next few days.

A picnic and rally is being planned for this fall to further the Democratic candidates of Benton County and those on the state ticket.

NEW PLAN TO ELIMINATE FUNERAL BILLS

From years of experience, our firm knows the heavy financial burden often placed on bereaved families.

New Pre-Arrangement Plan Protects the Family

In order to relieve the family of funeral expenses at a time they can least afford them, we recommend a new plan that takes care of these costs before need arises.

This plan provides for a small sum to be paid at convenient intervals to an admitted legal reserve insurer. When need arises, funeral expenses are paid, regardless of how little has been paid. The plan is available to families and individuals from 1 to 80. Any mortuary in the United States or Canada may be designated.

Find out how little it costs to protect your family. Send coupon below for free information about this remarkable plan. No obligation.

Capt. Anderson Returns Soon To Germany

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie

BLACKWATER — Camp. J. D. Anderson who has been in Germany about a year arrived Friday evening, June 18, and visited until Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Anderson. He returned to Washington, D. C. Sunday night and plans to be there a few days then return to his duties in Germany. His wife and three sons are in Germany with him.

Dr. W. H. Brown, Fayette, filled his appointment at the Methodist Church Sunday, He was accompanied by his daughter, Becky Brown, and her girl friend. All were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gibson. That afternoon Dr. Brown took the girls to Kansas City where they attended a Methodist Youth Camp.

Mrs. Ray Bishop and son who had been visiting relatives in Marshall spent Friday of last week with her cousin, Mrs. Curtis Davis, and Mr. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Bu Griffith were additional dinner guests. Mrs. Bishop and son were guests Friday night and Saturday of her aunt, Mrs. Artie Reed, an Mr. Reed.

Mrs. Percy McMahan returned from Jefferson City the first of the week after a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McMahan. She was accompanied home by Mrs. L. R. Scott who was her guest until Saturday. Mrs. McMahan and Mrs. Scott were guests Thursday an Friay in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pigg at Orrick.

Mrs. Florence Topel and three children moved last week from her former home to the property she bought recently from J. H. Racy and vacate by Minister F. G. Kessler and Mrs. Kessler. Mrs. Topel sold her former home to Miss Augusta Topel.

Mrs. Eva Heim accompanied by Mrs. I. M. Smith, Nelson, left Tuesday for Little Rock, Arkansas where they will visit with Mrs. Heim's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Heim.

The Salt Fork Cemetery Club met Wednesday afternoon at the Salt Fork Church. Plans are underway for the annual homecoming the first Sunday in August.

Mrs. Homer Wagner and son, Edie Wagner, Clinton, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Chain.

Mrs. Ida Ringle, Mrs. Anna Kilp, Leavenwork, Kan., Mrs. May Wigelsworth, Atchison, Kan., were weekend guests in the home of their sister, Mrs. Joe Esser, and Mr. Esser. They also visited with another sister, Mrs. John Chain, and Mr. Chain.

Miss Kay Grapes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Grapes, returned home from California where she spent five months with relatives. She accompanied her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Owen King, from Bloomington, Calif., to Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. King are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Van Grapes.

Mr. an Mrs. Donald Shemwell and two children, Kansas City, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shemwell. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Newman and son, Kansas City, were aditional guests Sunday.

Mrs. B. B. Brown, Wayne Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Rabern Kella, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Gillespie were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. an Mrs. A. L. Schuster, Columbia. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Oman, Robert J. Oman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fiel, Sedalia; Mrs. Russell Ward and daughter, Edie Lynn, Columbia, and Miss Nancy Schuster. The occasion was to honor Mrs. Schuster's mother, Mrs. E. W. Kella, on her birthday. Mrs. Kella makes her home with the Schusters.

Pvt. Bobby Ashford, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ashford, and Jimmie Root, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Root, all of Blackwater, met recently, in Germany where the boys are located. They are not in the same camp, but Pvt. Ashford was away from his camp taking tests for base-ball umpire. He was recognized by Pfc. Root while on the diamond.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rucker, Ray Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sims and daughter, Mary and Mrs. J. N. Sims, went to Marshall Saturday afternoon and attended the wedding of the Rucker's granddaughter, Miss Ruth Ann Young, to Mr. John Crocker. The wedding and reception were held at the Baptist Church with Dr. Harvey Baker Smith, pastor of the Christian Church, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Challis Young.

Billy Stewart and brother, Bob Stewart, came from St. Louis Friday and visited with their grandmother, Mrs. Hulda Duvall. Billy returned to the city Sunday but Bob remained for a month's visit.

NEW PROOF
THAT MILLIONS CAN END THE "NEED" FOR HARSH DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES
—find relief from common constipation this safe, natural way without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

The past 30 years have seen greater advances in medical science than all the preceding centuries put together—in the entire history of man.

The life expectancy of our people, particularly the happy, productive "prime of life" has been increased by years—through use of the "miracle drugs" of modern medicine and new knowledge of "miracle food elements" including vitamins and minerals.

The light of this new science has also revealed important things about our most common trouble—common constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. Things you should know if you are among the 7 out of every 10 people who suffer, occasionally, frequently or steadily from constipation—due to tensions, lack of exercise, processed foods lacking in bulk, pressures of daily living.

This new knowledge brings new hope—but it also points out clearly the dangers to health that lie in the ordinary "drug-type" laxatives you are probably using.

But first—it describes these facts about constipation itself . . .

CONSTIPATION IS SELDOM A "READY-MADE" TROUBLE THAT STRIKES WITHOUT WARNING. IT IS A "PROGRESSIVE DISEASE" THAT INCREASES FROM OCCASIONAL—TO COMMON—TO CHRONIC. IT TENDS TO BECOME STEADILY MORE SERIOUS—UNLESS PROPER TREATMENT IS USED! IT GETS WORSE AS YOU GET OLDER!

AND MOST SERIOUS! A great danger in constipation frequently comes from the use of "drug-type" laxatives which abuse the digestive system in these ways:

1. Most purgative compounds, designed for fast overnight relief, must depend on: (a) mechanical action which loads the lower intestine (colon) with a flood of water; or (b) "irritant" action which, with certain chemical ingredients, prods bowel walls into muscular contraction.
2. These compounds draw off water from the system and rush it through the intestines; thus also drawing off fluids and juices needed for normal digestion, and vitamins and minerals from the food you have eaten.
3. The chemical action of these compounds often further irritates an already over-sensitive intestinal tract.
4. RESULT: An upset stomach, a small intestine containing little nourishment to feed the body, and a colon which often needs another purgative dose—and another—and another to prod it into renewed muscular action.

IN SHORT: SUCH LAXATIVES INFLICT UPON YOUR DIGESTIVE SYSTEM UNNATURAL PUNISHMENT WHICH LEAVES A TRAIL OF DIGESTIVE HAVOC. INSTEAD OF THE CORRECTIVE RESULTS HOPED FOR, SERIOUS DAMAGE MAY FOLLOW—AND THE PROGRESS OF CONSTIPATION BE HASTENED ALARMINGLY.

TO END "NEED" OF HARSH DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES—TRY THIS

To avoid these dangers—and provide relief from common constipation—there is this safe, natural way—long-known, but now more fully-proved by science than ever before!

It has long been a medically-established fact that nature has provided, in natural foods, every element needed for lifetime avoidance of common constipation. Many of these foods provide abundant natural fibrous bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination. Ideal among natural foods for rhythm-aiding bulk, are the outer-layers of whole wheat, generally called bran. Whole bran, properly processed and shredded, yields smooth bulk the digestive system can handle unimpaired.

Because of the known value of bran in relieving constipation, the Kellogg Company for years has produced a complete, whole bran, with nothing taken away to lessen its effectiveness—Kellogg's All-Bran—the Natural Laxative Cereal.

But, you may ask, "just how effective is All-Bran?" The answer was found in these clinical tests.

135 patients with known delayed bowel function were studied. All exhibited etiologic factors commonly known to produce constipation. Cases included those with habit irregularities, diet indiscretions and others whose discomfort was due to mechanical and other causes.

All patients ate 30 grams (about one ounce) of Kellogg's All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-Ray, with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

Results were conclusive. Of the 135 people, 107 showed definite clinical improvement in bowel activity within 7 days.

In follow-up tests, better than 6 out of 7 people improved. In only 1 out of 75 cases did the constipated condition progress.

The reason for these results is in the action of All-Bran in the body—as compared to the action of "drug-type" laxatives previously described.

1. Kellogg's All-Bran has no significant laxative action in the stomach or small intestine, thus it does not significantly change the normal digestive sequence. Only in the colon, where laxative action is needed, does laxative action take place.
2. Kellogg's All-Bran is eaten with milk, thus it draws from the system no needed water and digestive juices. It has no harsh action, thus it does not rush vitamins or minerals past the small intestine too quickly for absorption.
3. Kellogg's All-Bran is rich in vitamins and minerals, thus it actually assures the presence of these elements in the small intestine for proper absorption.
4. Kellogg's All-Bran is shredded to fine, soft consistency, thus it supplies bulk which neither irritates nor inflames the normal colon. It helps—as nature itself intended—to supply the proper consistency for unforced, normal elimination.

Thus All-Bran (as above) provides relief from constipation in a safe natural way—while avoiding the dangers of progressive constipation due to harsh laxatives.

But no exaggerated claims are made for the laxative qualities of All-Bran. It is no "over-night cure"—there is none. All-Bran must be eaten regularly to get the natural and lasting relief you want. However, you will find this easy and pleasant, as All-Bran is not only the laxative cereal—it is a delicious cereal as well. Many prefer it for breakfast on taste alone to any other cereal.

Kellogg's makes it easy for you to prove that to yourself. Just eat All-Bran every morning for 10 days. Then, if you're not completely satisfied, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Michigan—and get double your money back.

READ HOW OTHER SUFFERERS FROM CONSTIPATION (due to lack of bulk in the diet) HAVE BENEFITED:

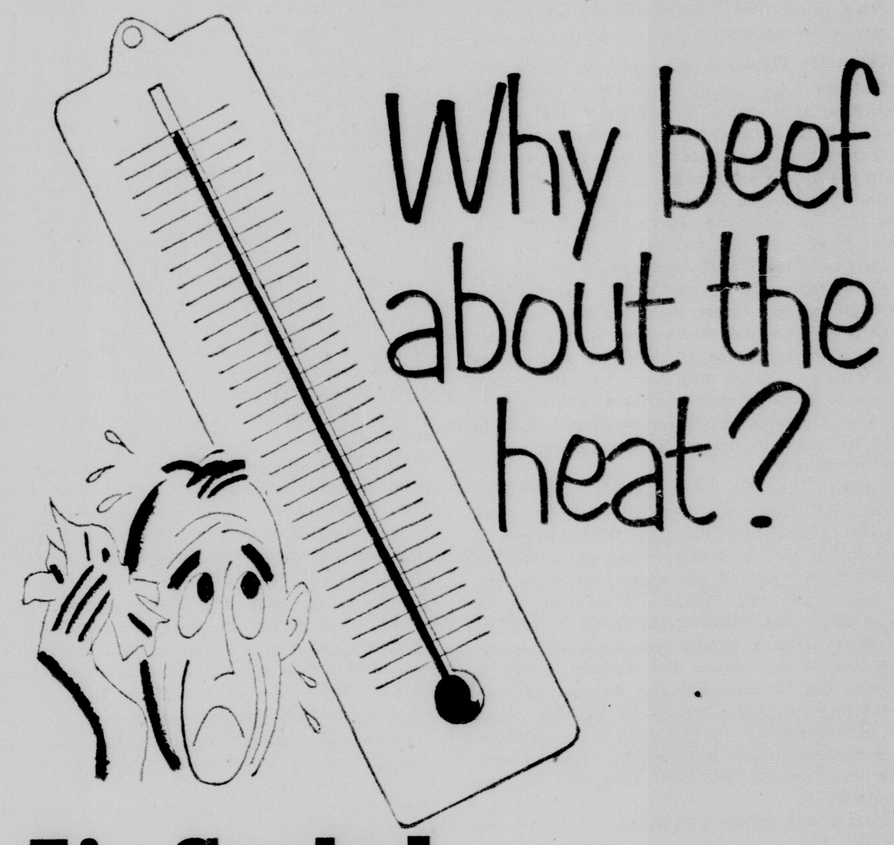

"I spent hundreds of dollars for different laxatives but my condition steadily got worse . . . until I finally got around to buying a small box of All-Bran. Imagine, after eating it just two days my elimination was back to normal!"
—Mrs. Dona Ammons, Route #1 Childersburg, Alabama

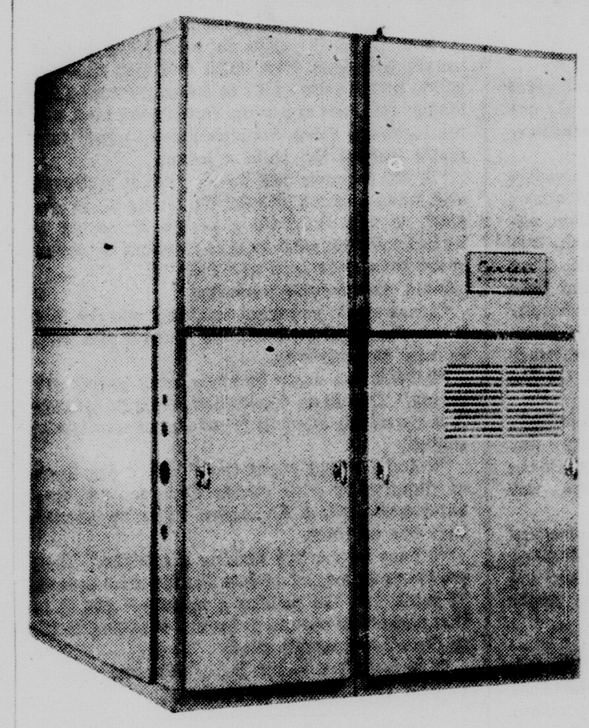

"Like so many people in sedentary occupations, I became irregular. Dosing would only bring temporary relief so, a while back, I turned to Kellogg's All-Bran. Thanks to it I am now as regular as morning follows night."
—Mr. Frank A. Secord 2345 S. 35th St., Omaha, Nebr.

Triple Alternate Defense Lines Drawn for Far East

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Shortly before Winston Churchill arrived for his talks with Eisenhower, the National Security Council, which seems to be making the chief foreign affairs decisions these days, drew up an extremely important new policy for the Far East.

Churchill will doubtless find this policy a little easier to swallow than the tough and drastic intervention program which Adm. Arthur Radford tried to sell him in London six weeks ago. Hence there should be a reasonable basis for agreement between England and the United States in the Far East.

In brief, here is the new policy adopted by National Security Council.

The United States has now drawn up three defense lines. If the Communists step across one of these defense lines, the United States will fight only with the cooperation and support of the United Nations. If the Reds step over the second defense line, we will fight in alliance with any of the countries invaded regardless of the U.N.

If the Communists step over the third defense line, we will fight whether we have any allies or not.

Where We Fight

Defense Line No. 1—Indo-China—Here we will fight only with U.N. backing. If the United Nations acts to support the three small countries of Indo-China, the United States will go to war with the U.N. Furthermore, if the Red Chinese push across the border in numbers, we will urge the U.N. to intervene. In this case we would retaliate directly against Red China.

Defense Line No. 2—includes South Korea, the Philippines, all the island chains down through the East Indies, including Formosa; also embracing Thailand, Burma and Malaya. If any of these countries are attacked, we will invoke our defense treaties with them and go to war. If we have no defense treaties at the moment, we will endeavor to sign some shortly. Efforts will be made to bring all these areas within the Pacific NATO.

Defense Line No. 3—includes all U.S. territories, U.S trusts and U.S. possessions in the Pacific, plus Japan. This last is significant. It means the United States would go to war to save Japan whether our allies join us or not.

This is the reason President Eisenhower spoke so candidly about trade with Japan during the newspaper editors dinner this week. For today, the key to our entire Far Eastern policy is Japan. The National Security Council has decided to encourage a strong and friendly Japan to counterbalance the China-Russian alliance, and because Japan is dependent upon imports she can be starved into allegiance to the Communists.

That is one reason why Burma, Thailand, the Malays, and Indonesia are so important. They have been big Japanese markets in the past.

The above strategy comes much closer to representing the views of all members of the joint chiefs of staff, most of whom disagreed with their chairman, Admiral Radford. Admiral Radford has now retreated from his proposed intervention in Indo-China and is willing to accept the above three-defense-line policy.

No Senate Segregation

A small Negro boy looked longingly at a candy counter through the open door of the Senate restaurant. Finally he stopped a passer-by.

"Do they 'low colored boys in there to buy a choc'late bar?" he asked timidly.

"I'll say you can go in there," replied the stranger. "You're going in there with me."

The boy picked out his candy and pulled a lonely dime out of his pocket. But the stranger had already paid for it. The boy's face brightened up and he dashed off happily without asking his benefactor's name—Senator Dennis Chavez, Democrat, of New Mexico.

Will Germany Repeat?

A high-level diplomatic conference took place in London the other day which pinpoints one of the main problems Churchill and Eisenhower are now discussing.

It was a meeting of top U.S. ambassadors from Western Europe, including Winthrop Aldrich, envoy to London; Douglas Dillion, envoy to France; and Dr. James Conant, U.S. high commissioner to Germany. Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce was not able to come from Italy because of poor health. She has been nervously upset by Communist inroads upon Italy. However, Livingston Merchant, assistant secretary of state for Western Europe, flew to London especially for the meeting.

Highlight of the meeting was Commissioner Conant's report that unless Germany was given the right to set up her own army, Chancellor Adenauer would fall sometime this summer.

German rearmament, therefore, has become one of the No. 1 aims of the U.S. and England —despite growing German haughtiness and the likelihood that an independent Germany might "retreat."

Churchill Notes

Some time before he left Germany, Winston Churchill called in top atomic advisers, Lord Cherwell and Lard Salisbury, and laid down a British policy that it was better to lose all Indo-China than risk using the atom bomb.... Reason for the meeting was word that Admiral Radford had a plan up his sleeve for A-bombs to Indo-China. Churchill, on the contrary, argued that the A-bomb would alienate the people of all Asia. . . . John Foster Dulles is fit to be tied over the British labor delegation which plans to visit Red China. He says the British could at least have tipped him off in advance. Dulles is planning to persuade Churchill to withdraw permission for the trip, but the old gentleman of No. 10 Downing Street will probably tell Dulles to mind his own business.

'Pro' and 'Cohn'

Provost Marshall Gen. William Gaglin has figured in the Army-McCarthy hearings because Pvt. G. David Schine has been assigned to the Military Police Corps. As a result, General Maglin has received a huge amount of mail on the case. He has instructed his secretary to sort out the letters and file them under the headings of "Pro" and "Cohn."

Average U. S. Citizen Has A Lot To Be Thankful For

By Bruce Biossat

Every now and then it pays to take stock of the kind of life we are living materially in the United States. A lot of comfort can be found in the current economic statistics.

Indeed, we could afford to be a fairly carefree people if they were the only measure of how things are going for us in this world.

The magazine U. S. News has just done another of its competent surveys on our living standards, and it finds the picture astonishingly bright. It draws parallels throughout the survey between 1940 and now.

In 1940 America had somewhat less than 40 million families, while today the total exceeds 48 million.

Then, when the nation was just emerging from a long depression into the prosperity of the prewar "defense era," only 15,200,000 families—well below half—owned their own homes. Today 28,500,000, considerably more than half the country's families, possess their homes.

The automobile long has been a symbol of U. S. living standards and in 1940 a bit more than half our families had one. Yet in 1954 the figure has soared far beyond the 1940 total of 21,200,000 to a present 37,000,000 families—three fourths—who own cars.

Take a look at such indexes of material well-being as home electricity, running water, inside toilets, tub or shower baths, the telephone.

In 1940, 79 per cent of U. S. homes had electricity, in 1954, 98 per cent; the comparable figures on running water are 70 per cent and 88 per cent; on toilets, 65 per cent and 80 per cent; on tubs or showers, 61 per cent and 78 per cent; on telephones, a mere 36 per cent and 69 per cent.

For all the jokes of our European friends about our "bathtub culture," these are not trivial figures. They are the kind the sociologist pays close heed to in measuring the quality of our housing. When the experts talk of "substandard" housing, they mean, among other things, houses deficient in some of the items noted above.

Americans, of course, have not been content with these minimum essentials of good housing. They have gone to outfitting their households with all manner of devices and appliances, some of which are obviously labor-saving and others of which fall into the "luxury" category.

Some 42 per cent of U. S. homes had washing machines in 1940, and today the percentage is 72. Use of vacuum cleaners is up from 34 per cent to 56. On electric irons, the increase is from 67 per cent to 83 per cent of all families; on toasters, from 39 per cent to 66.

Radio was well established in 1940, with 83 per cent of all families owning one or more. In the years since—and the period covers the great impact of TV—usage of radio has gone up to 98 per cent.

Meantime, TV, starting from scratch in 1940, has zoomed to a point where already 61 per cent of all U. S. families own a set.

Figures like these don't say anything about our spiritual condition, or our moral standards or our troubled relations with friends and potential enemies beyond our shores.

But they do make it strikingly plain that in the business of gaining the hard necessities and many of the shiny appurtenances of material life, we are well ahead of where we used to be. That's something to be thankful for.

Save Your 'I Told You So's' And You'll Keep Friends

By Ruth Millett

Some remarks rub almost everyone the wrong way. And yet how often we hear them.

"I told you so." The only person who is ever pleased by that remark is the one who makes it.

"You wouldn't listen to me." That one is usually addressed to a child, one who has just gotten hurt as the result of doing something his mother told him not to do. But it's the hurt, not the righteous "You wouldn't listen to me" that really teaches the child a lesson.

"If you had only told me . . . " That is always said when it is too late for the telling to do any good, so why frustrate a person by saying if he had told you what he was planning to do you could have done such and such.

Avoid Antagonistic Remarkes

"I was afraid you were making a mistake, but it wasn't any of my business." Then it still isn't, so why say anything?

"I think you ought to know what people are saying." That is an unpleasant sentence because it is invariably used to introduce an unpleasant subject.

"Your're wrong about that." There are ways of disagreeing with others than don't arouse antagonism, but a flat-footed "Your're wrong" isn't one of them.

"I hope you aren't making a mistake." That can't even be argued against like the more honest, "I think you are making a mistake," and it is just suggestive enough to leave a sneaking doubt in the other person's mind.

"The trouble with you is . . ." Whoever wanted to hear the end of that sentence?

Boone Trouble

Rear Adm. Walter Frederick Boone, new commandant of the U. S. Naval Academy, and Adm. Joel T. Boone, director of medicine for the Veterans' Administration, are not related.

But because their last names are the same, they have been involved in innumerable mix-ups during their entire Navy careers. Among other things, thye used to get each other's tailor bills.

Once when they were young, there was a mix-up on blind dates. One of the Boones had to stand up a girl on shore and get back to his ship for a quick departure. Years later the girl was introduced to the other Boone and gave him a severe bawling out for the incident.

The innocent Boone was extremely upset about this because he had been married at the time, and he had to do a lot of fast talking with his wife to clear himself on what had been the ohter Boone's predicament.

Production of a single pound of beef requires, directly or indirectly, between 15 and 30 tons of water.

Army Uncovers Multi-Million 'Con' Ring in Philippines

WAR DAMAGE IN MANILA: Congress may take a new look at a bill that would waive the statute of limitations on new claims.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — U. S. Army military police criminal investigators have uncovered a multi-million-dollar confidence ring in the Philippines which has been mulcting citizens and the U. S. Government through fraudulen. claims arising from World War II.

Army officials admit that it adds up to a "complex, conspiratorial rats' nest." It involves:

Two former American GIs now being sought in the U. S. by the FBI.

Forged Army documents.

Bold impersonations of U. S. claims officials.

The swindling of hundreds of Filipino citizens.

As a result of the exposure of these criminal activities, scores of war damage and other claims pending from the Philippines, involving millions of dollars, are expected to be rejected. Many more will be given a double-check by the Army.

It's likely also that Congress will take a new, hard look at a pending bill, HR 6451, which waives the statute of limitations on additional war claims from the Philippines.

The first clue to this fantastic conspiracy came to light last March when the Army claims office received copies of two letters signed by George Foster and Thomas Fleming, U. S. officials in the Philippines.

The letters appeared to be on official Army stationery, were addressed to a Filipino, and informed him that his claim for $1,192,890 from the Army for having supplied food and materials to guerrillas fighting the Japs had been approved.

Army officials realized something was wrong with the letters and sent a criminal investigator from the Military Police Corps to the Philippines to find out what was going on.

The investigator quickly established that Foster and Fleming had not written the letters, that they were clever forgeries. Then contacting the Filipino to whom the letters were addressed, the investigator uncovered a major phase of the conspiracy.

Shortly after the Filipino had received the letters, he was approached two different times by Americans who identified themselves as Foster and Fleming. They told him that although his claim had been approved, he would have to give them $500 to bribe certain U. S. officials and for other expenses involved in winding up the claim.

The Filipino didn't think that this request was out of order in view of the great sum he was about to get from the U. S. Treasury. However, he sent the two forged letters to Washington. Fortunately the "CI man"—as Army criminal investigators are called—reached the Filipino before he was able to raise the $500 requested for a bribe.

After the Filipino met the real Foster and Fleming and admitted he had never seen them before, he went to Manila police files. There he identified one of the imposters as an American citizen who had a sizeable criminal record for various crimes.

The CI man identified the impersonator from Army records as an American GI who had received an honorable discharge in Manila and who had apparently come from a good stateside family. His name is being withheld pending his arrest.

The placing of charges against him is complicated by the fact that most of his alleged crimes were committed in the Philippines.

Further investigation revealed that his accomplice in this specific case was also an honorably discharged GI. Manila police said that the pair had been in a lot of trouble and were suspected of being in on a whole series of confidence rackets.

Both men are now believed to be back in the U. S.

The trail of the former GIs quickly led to other Manila citizens who had received similar forged letters. One Chinese admitted that he was ready to pay their price to help expedite the final payment on his claim but that the pair had gotten drunk while discussing the deal over lunch. This made him doubt that they were U. S. officials.

It's not known how much the pair collected with this ruse. When it was learned that such a pay-off would implicate the payee, the CI man found it difficult to get information on just how much had been paid.

The continuing probe is attempting to find out just how many fraudulent claims the pair had their fingers in, with their possession of Army stationery and forging ability. The claim numbers the conspirators put on their forged letters also indicate that they had access to official files at some point.

Manila police have already cracked down on several individuals who are known to have been friends and frequent companions of the two former GIs. The frauds they were arrested for involved enormous claims to the U. S. for back pay while fighting with guerrilla forces against the Japs.

The claims were never actually filed with the U. S. Army. But these men collected large sums of money from scores of Filipinos by promising to get claims put through U. S. government channels.

Regardless of who is eventually punished for this elaborate conspiracy, Army officials claim that its exposure has saved U. S. taxpayers millions of dollars.

LITTLE by little the coupe assumed a new shape. The shape of the nose changed to a simple curve. The fenders changed, too, sweeping back, dipping gently, fading into the body.

It was combed back, so to speak, given a curved windshield, a graceful slope and a flowing rear deck. And when it was assembled, he was ready to paint. He wanted at least seven coats when the color had been decided upon.

He was sanding on it the night Sharon came in to ask about upholstery materials.

Sharon looked at the unpainted body of the new coupe. "You did it."

"Did what?"

"The lines you wanted. Even now it has a look of lightness, of flight, almost. As though it would be as light and graceful as a bird. It's terrific."

"I see it jet black," Ricky said, sitting down tiredly.

"Like nine out of 10 others will be."

"What else?"

"I saw an interesting color combination for home decoration in a magazine. It combined pink, brown, and copper."

"Pink!" Ricky yelled. "Pink! Not my coupe, lady."

"I thought you'd react like that," Sharon said. "So I bought a little model car and painted it that way. Soft pink, brown and copper. Like this."

She unwrapped the little car she had brought and Ricky's eyes bulged. It was something!

The body of the car was a soft, glowing pink. The wheels and other metal trim had been tinted a coppery color instead of the usual chrome. The interior was the brown of good leather. The wheel was white, the dash a natural-wood tone. All metal parts were also coppery.

"Well?" Sharon asked.

Ricky looked from the little model to his coupe, seeing it done the same way.

"You've got it," Ricky said. "You've got it. You're a terrific partner. I . . . I could kiss you for that."

"Do you need other reasons?" Sharon teased.

The coupe's fate was decided. It would be pink, brown and copper.

HAD he worked openly, Dellville would have been bored and critical. But when Ricky's rod was put under wraps, Dellville became curious, and interested. Ricky wouldn't talk, nor Sharon, nor his father nor the body-shop men who were helping. And because everyone working on the coupe kept the secret, Dellville wondered if it really had something big coming up.

Asked about his rod at school, Ricky would just grin and shake his head. Asked about it at the bank, his father would say it was "something," and change the subject. Body-shop men would say that Dellville was going to be surprised, and that was all.

The way interest piled up, the day of the unveiling was looked forward to like a holiday.

And the day came during the Thanksgiving holiday and although school was out, the school band had assembled on the square where Ricky's car would be shown for the first time. The mayor was going to give him the town's blessing.

Rather than risk getting the coupe dirty or in an accident, a car dealer had offered him the use of a truck to deliver the coupe to the show. It was on the truck, covered, and it would be shown to the town before they drove away.

As soon as the truck parked, the crowd closed in. Ricky climbed up the back and stood by the coupe. The mayor came up a small ladder and walked to Ricky, shaking his hand.

"Quite a day," Mayor Travis puffed.

The mayor signaled for quiet, and after the crowd had yelled a little louder in response, he said a few words. He said he had noticed certain young drivers with a certain sticker on their cars, with the initials of a certain club, and he had been impressed by their courtesy. He imagined, he said, that the council would be glad to listen to any plans they might have about auto-sports events.

• • •

THE canvas was rolled back and the little coupe was revealed to every eye in the brittle light of the November morning.

It was beautiful. The pink body shone with the soft depth of the inside of a sea shell, the copper trim and copper-wire wheels added a subdued richness. And the inside! Completely lined with a dark brown leather-like fabric, the instrument panel finished in antique pine, the instruments ringed with a thin line of copper, and the steering wheel a circle of gleaming white.

Ricky stood by proudly while the crowd pressed in close around the truck, looking in the open doors of the coupe, exclaiming, amazed, impressed.

Arnie VanZuuk climbed the ladder at the back of the truck and walked toward Ricky, every ounce of his bulk exuding pleasure and pride.

"A beauty . . . ya, a beauty," Arnie chuckled. "Who would guess this is the same one you bought six months ago from Merle?"

"It has changed a little," Ricky admitted, ready to burst with pride. "Think I'll win any prizes?"

"I think you win them all," Arnie said. "But the big one you win is here."

"Here?"

"I think maybe you fellers get a drag strip. I been listening to the mayor. You'd think it was his idea."

THE WEDDING DAY

Before the altar there they kneel
And in their hearts today they feel
The joy of life that's their's alone,
The greatest joy they've ever know.
Repeated they the vows and now
They feel that they will keep that vow.
Upon them shines the candle glow,
The minister prays soft and low,
In gown of satin kneels the bride,
The man she loves there at her side.
She feels the ring upon her hand.
He, too, wears now a similar band,
Silently sit the people there,
Heads bowed throughout these words of prayer,
In mother's eyes there is a mist,
In father's heart, fear as they kissed,
Have they, this couple, chosen right
And will their future life be bright,
But bride and bridegroom have no doubt,
They shouldn't have as they start out,
In happiness they rise and smile,
Then hand in hand go down the aisle,
The wedding cake, they cut a slice,
They try to dodge the shower of rice,
A girl has caught the bride's bouquet,
The couple makes a get away,
O, God, may they accept thy light
That you may guide their pathway right,
And as life adds each passing year
Their love will only grow more dear,
Unselfishness the whole way through,
O, God, if they have that and you.

Odds and Ends By News Staff

Eight young women were at a bridge party and after playing all afternoon together, just before the party broke up, someone of the group happened to think about the names of the girls there. There were two Louises, two Virginias, two Ruths and two Dorothys.

"Why did you put a sun dress on her? questioned a little boy of his mother as he watched his baby sister toddling around at Liberty Park one night recently.

"Why?", asked the mother who had thought the dress would be cool and couldn't imagine any reason he would have for asking such a question.

"Well, the sun isn't shining", said the boy.—H. L.

When the girl in her husband's office became ill and had to be off from work, a Sedalia woman went in the office to help out. There was only one thing she had to worry about at home and that was her dog, so she put him in the basement and asked the woman next door to open the basement door after she left so the little dog could go in and out, but wouldn't follow her.

When she returned home she was met by the little four year old neighbor girl.

"I baby sitted with your dog today", the youngster told her neighbor, "I watched him to see that he didn't get runned over by a car."—H. L.

Premium Fund Is Increased For State Fair

Premium money in practically every one of the 25 departments listed in the 1954 catalog has been increased this year at the Missouri State Fair, bringing the total of money offered to $209,223.00.

In past years, Missouri's generous premiums have attracted some of the country's largest livestock exhibits as well as the best in educational, home economics, and agricultural departments.

A hobby show, added as a part of the philately department, horseshoe pitchng and archaeology are newly added exhibits at the fair to be held Aug. 21 through 29.

In order to afford better display and facilitate the handling of the ever increasing number of exhibits, several changes in the interior of exhibit buildings have been made this year.

Since the Missouri State Fair stands near the top of the nation's major fairs, a blue ribbon on any exhibit has become a coveted prize which is the main factor in stiffening competition and ever increasing entries.

Early inquiries this year indicate that the number of exhibitors participating in the 1954 Fair will surpass the all-time record of last year. There is still time to secure your catalog from the Missouri State Fair, study the various departments and make your entries.

Prairie Ridge Club Gives Items to Sick Loan Cupboard Here

"Our Feet and Their Care" was the topic of the meeting of the Prairie Ridge Extension Club Wednesday, June 23.

Mrs. Wayne Davis and Mrs. David Walk, project leaders, discussed the structure of the foot, foot care, selection of shoes, foot troubles and remedial care.

The Prairie Ridge 4-H food, clothing, and home furnishing project members gave demonstrations. Lillie V. Reid demonstrated the preparation of a green bean casserole dish, which was enjoyed at the noon hour. Mary K. Kayes demonstrated the construction of the tailor's cushion and told of its use. Janice Walk showed how to construct a picture in home furnishings. Marilyn Reid told what buttons to use on various materials.

Roll call was answered with each member modeling her favorite apron, and calling attention to its good points.

Mrs. Wilbern Hayes and Mrs. Lewis Montgomery donated a back rest and a pair of crutches respectively to the Sick Loan Cupboard in the name of the Prairie Ridge Extension Club.

Sixteen members and the following guests were present: Mrs. Walker Boulware, Sedalia; Miss Darlene Jones, Des Moines; Mrs. Forrest Eugene Reid, Houstonia.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Irvin Robb, July 28.

Melvin J. Alpers Promoted While at Sea

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Bureau of Naval Personnel has announced an advancement in rating to hospital corpsman third class, USN, for Melvin J. Alpers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Alpers, Stover, and husband of Mrs. Betty P. Alpers, Kansas City. He is serving aboard the light cruiser USS Roanoke in the Mediterranean Sea.

Petty officer advancements are made on the basis of Navy-wide competitive written examinations, demonstrated proficiency in performance of duties, and leadership ability.

Sherman Adams Doesn't Mince Words in Assisting President

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Sherman Adams never says "No, I'm sorry." He just says "No."

In the first place, he might not be sorry. And in the second place, why use three words when one will do?

For the 55-year-old top assistant to President Eisenhower has little patience with ritual or anything else that takes up precious time.

An ex-lumberjack and former governor of New Hampshire, Adams is known here as "Ike's chief of staff." To reach Eisenhower's ear you go through Adams—a procedure that prompted one anti - Eisenhower Republican to quip: "Adams began his career log-rolling and he has never stopped."

Easily one of the most influential men in the nation, Adams has a job that's something of a catch-all for just about every phase of government.

"It isn't reducible to any nice description," he says. "It is a job, I think, which makes an effort to shape the decisions the President ultimately will have to make—all the way from public policy to personnel appointments."

The President has been known to refer to Adams as "the boss," though he grinned when he said it.

The 5-foot-8, 150-pound Adams looks on his $20,000-a-year job as a protection for the President against the terrific pressures that go with the job of the nation's chief executive. When a problem reaches the President's desk, it comes with Adams' recommendations, which carry great weight.

As boss of the White House staff, he begins conferences at 8:30 a.m., makes assignments and sets the work pace. Eisenhower, unlike former President Truman, never attends these staff meetings. So it's Adams who calls the day's signals.

Adams rarely makes the headlines. An exception came in the Army - McCarthy hearings when Army Counselor John G. Adams reported the Army's case had been planned at a special White House conference at which Sherman Adams presided.

The latter refused comment.

Adams is widely respected as an administrator — and can be urbane and a fascinating yarn spinner — but nearly everyone you talk with about him concedes he could use a course in how to win friends.

One New Hampshire friend who called Adams by telephone and began the conversation by inquiring into Adams' health relates:

"Before I could say anything else, Adams told me, 'State your business.' So, knowing Adams, I stated my business and got an answer. I was angry at first, but then I decided that's just Sherm's way."

In his role as assistant president, Adams has made enemies. Among them are some who supported the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination.

One "Old Guard" Republican congressman says: "Adams never consults with or asks the advice of anyone not connected with that wing (Eisenhower) of the party. He is very unpopular with a lot of people on the Hill on that account."

Another congressman complains that he found Adams cold and rude.

Like many of Adams' close associates, Rep. Morris Cotton (R-NH) has an explanation: "I've known Sherm for many, many years. A legend has been built up that he is hard-boiled. People create that image. Fundamentally, he is a tremendous worker and a fellow who is such a terrific worker is a little impatient with people who waste his time.

"If you are a friend and you're in trouble, he is never too busy to listen and help, but if you go in with something trivial he undoubtedly will snap at you."

Adams, who has been variously called "Old Stone Face" and "The Rock" in New Hampshire, works in the northwest wing of the White House, in a large white room decorated with colored lithographs of early American presidents, including a couple of relatives named John and John Quincy — who were presidents in the days before presidents had assistant presidents. There's also a New Hampshire snow scene painted by his wife Rachel.

Adams, who has a logger's vocabulary when he wants to use it, was born Jan. 8, 1899, in his grandfather's Baptist parsonage at East Dover, Vt. Though born into Baptist surroundings, young Sherman was reared an Episcopalian, his father's church.

He was 8 when his parents, Clyde and Winnie Adams, and his sister Marion moved to Providence. As young Sherman grew up, he sometimes worked as a bundle boy in a public market. Later, he went back to Vermont to work on his grandfather's farm.

While Adams wasn't exactly a whiz kid in school, he was above average and was graduated from Hope High School as class president and leader of the debating team.

When he went off to Dartmouth, with financial help from his uncle, Edwin F. Sherman of Providence, he supplemented his income in the summers by working as a trail cutter in the woods. By the time he was a sophomore he was known as the 'Old Man of the Mountains."

During World War I, he enlisted in the Marines as a machine gunner but never reached France.

After graduation from Dartmouth, he worked in South Vermont as a logger for the Black River Lumber Co.

By the time he had become general woods manager for the parent concern, Parker-Young of Lincoln, N.H., he had been seriously injured three times.

One accident nearly killed him. He was working around a log spout where pulp wood is dropped into the water. A piece caught him behind the left ear from 60 feet up. He still is partially deaf as a result.

With intense drive and using his educational background, Adams worked his way up until he was boss of 600 to 700 tough lumberjacks and had earned a reputation for being a hard but fair man.

Around Lincoln folks still get a chuckle out of the tale of how three lumberjacks sitting idly around jumped up, picked up a piece of machinery and started off down the trail for no good reason.

When asked why, the lumberjack replied, "Adams is coming and I ain't going to let him catch me sitting down."

"It was in those days when I had responsibility for those men," says Adams, "that I got into the habit of rising early." His routine of rising at 5:30 a.m. and going to bed between 8:30 and 9 p.m. is now the despair of politicians and Washington hostesses.

He has been known to walk out on a political strategy conference because it was his bedtime. He has been known too to disappear from a party just as a hostess felt she had achieved success by having the assistant president on hand.

It was while Adams was working out of Lincoln that a Democrat suggested he run for the State House of Representatives. It was a new idea. Adams, with his background in debate and public speaking, was willing to try. He did — as a Republican — and won.

As a freshman legislator, he amazed his colleagues with his passion for work. He became House speaker his second term. From there he went to Congress and then to two terms as governor.

A close associate in Concord says that when he returned from Congress, "he was thoroughly fed up and disillusioned.

"He detested Washington because he felt he wasn't accomplishing anything. He brought a businessman's viewpoint to the job. He wanted decisions made and carried out, but as a freshman legislator he had no influence. About the only pleasure he had in Washington was singing in the choir of an Episcopal church."

In his two terms as governor (1948-1952), Adams customarily arrived at the statehouse before the janitor showed up at 7 a.m., carrying his lunch in a black pail into which his wife, who did all the cooking, had packed sandwiches and coffee.

He reorganized the state government, then a maze of overlapping committees and commissions, and reduced the state budget by three million dollars.

He also gained a reputation as a speed demon. His friends say it's not that Adams likes speed; it's just that he is impatient to get from where he is to where he is going.

Adams married Rachel White of Belmont, Vt., whom he met at Dartmouth, in 1923.

The marriage is described by friends as one of rare and deep devotion. Mrs. Adams, known for her charm and good looks, is called "the perfect foil for Sherm."

Adams once became irritated because his wife went driving off every morning to visit with friends over coffee. To stop what he thought was a waste of time and gasoline, he locked the car in the garage.

Mrs. Adams simply entered through a side door and rocked the car against the doors until they came off at the hinges. Adams never tried it again.

They have four children—Mrs. William Freese of Pittsfield, N.H.; Mrs. William Hallager of Scarsdale, N.Y.; Miss Sarah Adams of Brookline, Mass.; and Samuel, a student at St. Paul's School in Concord.

In 1951 Adams joined five other Republican governors to urge the Republican nomination of Eisenhower. He told colleagues that if Ike's name were entered in the New Hampshire Republican preferential primary he did not think it would be withdrawn.

A man who worked for Adams said in Concord, "The biggest mistake Taft ever made was in coming to New Hampshire. After his visit Sherm was convinced Taft couldn't win. Harold Stassen also came into the state. It was after their visits that Sherm announced for Ike."

"Adams," he continued, "did not meet Ike until the 1952 convention, and I think he felt then his feelings had been justified."

While in Wyoming on a post-convention fishing trip Adams received a call from Eisenhower asking him to become campaign chief of state. He traveled 40,000 miles, becoming more and more of a political adviser and strategist.

Some political observers believe it was Adams who advised Eisenhower to "wait and see" after the hubbub over the political fund of Sen. Richard Nixon, the vice presidential candidate.

The success of Nixon's now famed television explanation confirmed Eisenhower's opinion of Adams as a man of political sense.

After the election Adams went back to New Hampshire to take over as governor again for a few weeks until the inauguration of his successor, Hugh Gregg. He had no thought of stepping into the national political big time, but his wife did. She had a "woman's intuition," borne out when another call from Eisenhower asked him to be top White House assistant.

Few governors have ever departed with as little fanfare. Adams simply put on his coat after the Gregg inauguration and said, "Well, I'm off."

The Adamses live in a pleasant, 143-year-old home on two acres in Rock Creek Park here. They apparently have not been unaffected by the stiff political and social pace of the capital.

A marveling New Hampshire friend noted that "when Sherm came to Washington nobody had ever known him to take more than half a drink. Somebody counted the other night, and he had four. For Adams that is really going to town."

Another friend in New Hampshire was asked what he conceived to be Adams' philosophy, if any. He replied:

"I don't think Adams is a philosopher. He is an administrator, but he did give a New Year's toast once which went like this:

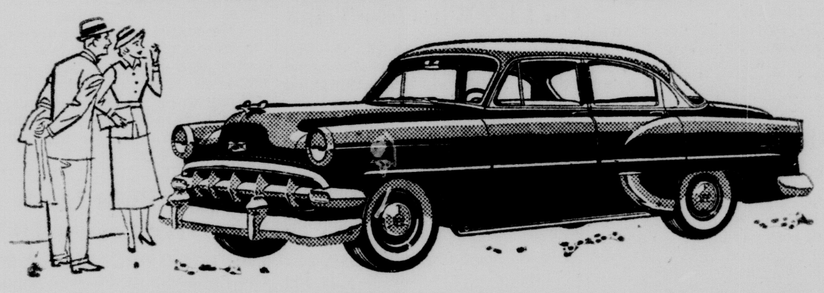

"'May everyone be blessed with the things he ought to have and none of the things he doesn't need'."

Taystee Bread, Brown's Win Friday Night

Taystee Bread defeated Western Auto 6-2 and Brown's Auto Supply won easily from Phillips 66, 11-3, in the Babe Ruth games played at Liberty Park Friday night.

In the Taystee Bread-Western Auto contest, Hickman and Cason had the only two hits for the losing Western Auto team. Homan and Nolan had two each for the winners and Jackson, Murray Miller, Naylor, Ditton and Rouchka each had one hit each for Taystee.

Roger Gates went all the way for the Taystee Bread win. He had ten strikeout victims.

The other game between the smooth-going Brown's Auto Supply team and the Phillips 66 squad, the winners outplayed the losers all the way down the line.

Newman was the outstanding performer in the contest getting three hits and knocking in three runs. Newman was also the winning hurler for the Brown's team.

One of the more outstanding plays of the Phillips 66-Brown's game was a play made by the losers centerfielder, Rice. He robbed Shepherd of an extra base hit as he caught a long hit ball on the run to retire the side in the 1st inning.

Next Friday, July 2, marks the end of the first half of play for the Babe Ruth leaguers.

BoSox Snap ChiSox Win String In 3-1 Triumph

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)— Ted Williams, baseball's hard luck man of 1954, returned to the Boston lineup today and singled across one and scored another of three runs which enabled the Red Sox to snap a five game Chicago White Sox victory string, 3-1.

The White Sox thus dropped a game and a half behind league-leading Cleveland.

Bassett in Line For Shot At Saddler's Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Percy Bassett is in line for an October shot at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler after his 11th round technical knockout over young Lulu Perez.

Bassett wore down the 21-year-old Brooklyn fancy Dan with his heavy hooks to the body, dropped him for an automatic eight count in the 11th and cut his left eye in the eighth last night in Madison Square Garden.

Because it will take time to recover after cutting out some old scar tissue around Bassett's right eye, he will be out of action for a few weeks. But he'll be ready for Saddler whenever the champ says the word.

"I think I'll win," said Bassett in his dressing room "I'll fight him inside, I won't rlun. If he gets rough, I'll get rough too."

The small crowd, estimated at 2,500 paying $8,000 knows he can. He swarmed all over Perez, drove him against the ropes, scored with a long right to the head often and those deadly hooks to the body. In a mixup near Perez' corner, it looked like a butt opened the inch and a quarter gash over Lulu's left eye that required 12 stitches.

"He was awfully strong," said an exhausted Perez. "I was too tired to continue. Those left hooks to the body did it."

Bassett agreed. "He didn't seem too strong," he commented, "I felt I had him in the seventh when I could feel him getting tired in the clinches."

Both judges Bert Grant and Frank Forbes had Bassett on top 8-3 when it was stopped. Referee Al Berl scored it 7-3-1 for Bassett, the Associated Press was 9-2 for Percy, a 3 to 1 underdog.

It was the last Madison Square Garden show of the regular Friday night season until Sept. 3, although there will be a few Wednesday cards during the summer.

Bassett, a Philadelphian, weighed 126¾, Perez 125½.

MSC's Hillman Robbins Wins NCAA Golf Finals 4-3 In 36 Hole Playoff

HOUSTON, June 26 (AP) — Just about everything went wrong for Hillman Robbins on the first six holes today before the southern intercollegiate champion from Memphis State settled down to defeat Cecil Calhoun of Louisana State for the national collegiate golf championship.

The 22-year-old junior from Memphis began blasting par to gain the 4 and 3 victory in 32 holes after having been four down after only five holes.

Furgol Enters Two Tam Golf Tourneys

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—Ed Furgol, newly-crowned National Open champion, today entered the $206,000 all-American and "World" golf tourneys at Tam O'Shanter, Aug. 5-8 and Aug. 12-15.

First prize in the "World" is an unprecedented $100,000.

Tam Promoter George S. May also announced entries from Betty Jameson, winner of the recent women's Western open, and Lloyd Mangum, Tam's host pro, the 1954 Men's Western Open winner.

SAFB Softball Team Defeats Jeff's Stags

The Sedalia Air Force Base won a bitterly contested game at Jefferson City when they defeated the Jefferson City Stags, 8-6, Friday night.

Sedalia came from behind a two-run deficit to tie the game 6-6 in the eighth inning and then pushed across two more tallies in their half of the ninth.

The Stags came up trailing by two runs in the last of the ninth. Hamm, Sedalia righthander, got the first two Jeff City men out. Les Alberts, Stag leftfielder, picked up a single. El Alberts then slammed one deep into center field for a double, sending the other baserunner around to third.

Hamm worked the count to two strikes and no balls on the next batter, Looten. On the third pitch, Looten slammed one down the third base line and both runners came across the plate with the tieing run.

The plate umpire ruled that the ball was a foul and all runners must return to their bases and Looten was still batting with a two and nothing count. A minute later he fanned.

Sedalia led off with four runs in the initial frame and picked up another in the sixth. They added one to tie the game in the eighth and scored their final two in the ninth.

The Stags got off to slow start, scoring one run in the first and none in the second. They tallied two in the third and took the lead in the fourth on three runs.

The winning pitcher in the contest was Hamm, the SAFB mound ace.

T & C Girls Lose To KC Donnettes In Softball 8-14

The Town and Country girls softball team was defeated by the Kansas City Donnettes by a score of 14 to 8 at Center Park Saturday night, despite two home run clouts by the T & C girls. Mary Gardner smashed a four-bagger for the T & C's in the third inning with Dorothy Rayl collecting hers in the seventh.

Betty Jo Dick led in hitting for the local girls with two safeties in four trips to the plate, as Mary Gardner, Dorothy Rayl and Betty Appleman each collected one.

The Town & Country girls collected a total of five hits for the evening against 12 for the powerful Kansas City team.

Jeanette Moon was the starting pitcher for T & C, being relieved in the fifth by Jane Greer, with Ellis Olson assisting behind the plate. Ryan started on the mound for the K. C. girls, Remero relieving in the fourth, with Portwood behind the plate.

The two teams will meet again tonight at 8 o'clock at the Center Park diamond.

MFA Softball Team Defeated At Marshall 10-13

The MFA softball team defeated the local Hamms Beer team 13-10 in a contest played at Marshall Friday night.

Sedalia threatened in the seventh when they had the bases loaded, but the well experienced Marshall MFA pitcher, Gene Barr, retired the side without any runs being scored.

Bob Schultz, the Sedalia hurler, was the leading hitter for the losers. He had two homers which accounted for the closeness of the game. Ray Homan also had two hits.

Tonight the Hamms crew will travel to Emma for a Central Missouri Softball League game which is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m. Players will leave from 318 West Eleventh at 6:45 p.m. for Emma.

Tuesday night, Hamms play host to the Houstonia team in another league game.

Yanks Move Nearer Top On 11-9 Win Over Tribe

CLEVELAND, June 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees—outhomered but not outhit — won a slugging match from the Cleveland Indians tonight 11-9 to move within two games of the league- leading Tribe and within one game of second-place Chicago.

The Indians had four home runs—two by Bob Avila, one by Jim Hegan and another by Al Smith. The Yanks hit for the circuit—Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle, for whom it was the 13th. Of the six homers, only Smith's came with anyone on base. His was good for three runs.

Each club got 13 hits, and neither Yankee starting pitcher Ed Lopata, who was trying for his 40th victory over Cleveland in 11 seasons, nor Early Wynn, who began on the mound for the Tribe, was around for the last half of the game. Reliefer Johnny Sain got credit for the victory.

Sports Scraps

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

IT appears to me the Sedalia Park Board has a project to take on that has been overlooked or something. The Sedalia parks are noted for their beauty and convenience, but one thing for sure, one visit to the picnic area at Liberty Park is about enough at this time of year unless something is done.

I recall when the Wegener Tree Service from Warrensburg gave an amazing demonstration of spraying DDT in Liberty Park with the thought in mind of getting Sedalia to sponsor a city wide project on the matter. The City did its own spraying for two years and it helped some but not what could have been done if handled properly.

In that demonstration of giving a full treatment of spraying of trees, the effects of the spray drifted down to the picnic area, and for some time the fly population was practically nil. After two years it has worn off and now you have to battle the flies constantly in hopes of getting your share of a sandwich or whatever food you are eating.

Hand spraying won't get it. At least it hasn't yet and I was informed that is the method which was being used.

I know nobody loves flies any better than I do and I will be willing to bet there will be few repeaters in the picnic area if something isn't done soon. Not only because of the discomfort but of the possibilities of some kind of an epidemic that might be spread.

It is polio time and they say flies are good carriers. It is something for the Board members to hash over at the next meeting of the board, it might be costly but it will be well worth the cost not only to give comfort to those who enjoy picnics but to kill out disease spreaders.

—O—

ON Sunday June 6 the St. Louis Cardinals were 4½ games out of first place but were in the fifth slot in the standings. I saw that game June 6 and the Cardinals defeated Philadelphia 11-8. But I didn't get to see Eddie Stanky's little left-handed pride and joy—Harvey Haddix.

But it was easy to see that Stanky gets the jitters and has his pitchers going in and out of a game like ants in an ant hill. I remarked about it to an "old timer" recently and he came up with the remark "they need a manager, Stanky has the pitchers all in a dither," and came out with a letter from a baseball scout to prove it.

However, there isn't any getting around the fact he has a second Harry "The Cat" Brecheen in Haddix who has been nicknamed "The Kitten" because he reminds the players of Brecheen whose three-quarter overhand motion looks so much like "The Cat."

For sure, if the Cards were winning Stanky would be O.K. losing, he is just a bum to some fans. But I'll say this for him, he's been making a name for himself and if Leo "Lipp" Durocher don't look out, he'll be over-shadowed by Stanky's being run out of the park tactics.

Stanky does give his players praise and he had this to say about Haddix, "I've been on clubs that had fine pitchers. This guy is right up with them, I mean fellows like Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn, when we won in Boston, the Sal Maglie of 1951 and Hugh Casey of Brooklyn. They were great —but I'll take Haddix.

"The Kitten" has won 11 out of 13 decisions this year. He is making an obvious bid to top the 20-9 mark he posted in 1953, his first full season in the majors.

—O—

IN 1943, Harvey traveled from his South Vienna, O., home to a Cardinal tryout camp at Columbus, 35 miles away. He registered as a first baseman, outfielder or pitcher, but when Scouts Tony Kaufmann and Walter Shannon looked him over, they informed Haddix he was strictly a pitcher.

He scaled only 139 pounds on a five-six frame, but late in '46 the Red Birds gave him a chance and he delivered at Winston-Salem. For a bonus, he received nothing more than a free rail ticket to the North Carolina city.

That started a steady rise to the majors, which was interrupted by a two-year stint in the Army. He came back late in 1952 and had a 2-2 mark in seven contests.

The Kitten, 5-9 and 163 pounds now, is surprisingly quick for his size. He has a sharp variety of stuff, with a curve, slider and knuckler mixed in with his fast one and letup.

—O—

I'LL take issue with some of these sports writers who lay claim that certain sections of the country have the best Little League programs in the country. We probably don't have as fine a park, but it is far better than 75-percent of the Little League Parks in the country, we have excellent support and we have more than 400 youngsters who are all steamed up over Little League. Sedalia will not take a back seat to anybody in its Little League program.

It is really something when you look back and recall three years ago when it opened with four majors and four minor league teams. There were about 120 players out then—now we have better than 400. Some increase if I might say so.

To who goes the credit—Nobody in particular but a bunch of hard working fathers and business men who were determined to do something about it. They did, now it's getting a little bigger than they expected and are going to need in the not too far distance future some more help.

An article appearing in Life magazine gave some information on it and it is well worth reading. This summer a half million determined kids are playing in 3,500 Little Leagues in 47 states (South Dakota is Little League-less) and in Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, Cuba, Canada, Panama, Puerto Rico and even in South Korea.

The magazine declares by the time Little Leaguers wind up their 1954 world series in Williamsport, Pa., in August, more spectators will have attended their games than will see the major league teams all season.

—o—

IN Manchester, New Hampshire, the Boy's Club has a coach by the name of Bob Crowley who puts his teams through tough drills with warm encouragement. And he expects members of his team to obey the following orders and advice:

(1) Fishing is not an excuse for missing practice. (2) There must be plenty of hustle at all times. (3) Be the umpire's best friend and his decisions will rarely be bad. (4) Don't ride kids who make errors, encourage them. (5) Don't alibi for errors. (6) Don't fraternize with opponents; it encourages them. (7) Don't get rabbit ears and take advice from spectators, uncles or fathers. (8) Eat well. (9) Be in bed by 8:30 each night — no late television. (10) Uniforms can be worn only on game days.

—O—

SEVERAL times recently I have asked about how players are chosen for the teams. I hope this explains to the satisfaction of all.

Little League rules try to give every boy a chance to make a team and each coach a fair crack at the vailable talent. Early in the season tryouts are held. Coaches jot down the names of preferred prospects; these are put on a list and a players' auction takes place. Each coach is allotted 10,000 points which he uses to bid for players. Once points are used up, coaches take turns selecting remaining players from the prospect list.

"One rule most stringently enforced," says LIFE, "is that players are never to learn whether they were bought at auction for a king's ransom in points or just picked up from among the leftover names in the players' pool."

3 Cards Players In Top Spots In All-Star Voting

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals had three players in top National League spots today as the all-star game voting turned into its final week.

The 23-day balloting marathon which will name the starting American and National League lineups for the all-tar game at Cleveland July 13 will end at midnight next Saturday.

Al (Red) Schoendienst, second sacker, was the latest Cardinal to be voted into a leading position. With 199,578 votes, Schoendienst today took first from Granny Hamner of the Philadelphia Phils. Hamner has 194,116.

The other Cardinal position leaders are right fielder Stan Musial and third baseman Ray Jablonski.

Three other major changes, one in the National and two in the American League, were recorded. Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn veteran, regained the National shortstop lead from Al Dark of the New York Giants, 197,158 votes to 193,042.

Two White Sox players, third sacker George Kell and shortstop Chico Carrasquell, dropped from American League leads. Ray Boone of Detroit went ahead of Kell by 4,211 votes, while Yankee Phil Rizzuto passed Carrasquel by 7,123 votes.

The Yankees dominate the American League with four top positions.

Robinson Singles For 7-6 Bum Win Over Cards

BROOKLYN, June 26 (AP) — Jackie Robinson's 11th inning single gave the Brooklyn Dodgers an uphill 7-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today after Duke Snider tied the score with a two-run homer in the ninth. As a result of the win, the Dodgers remained one game behind the league-leading New York Giants. Carl Furillo, Dodger first sacker, hit his 100th major league homer in the second inning.

5 Records Fall In Inter-Service Track And Field

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C., June 26 (AP)—Five records fell today before a mass attack by track and field champions of the Army, Air Force, Marine Corps and Navy in the inter-service track meet hee.

Army's team dominated the two-day meet by taking 10 first places and 113 points. Navy finished second with 49, the Marines got 35 2-3 and the Air Force 18 1-3.

Wes Santee, the former University of Kansas miler now stationed at the Quantico Marine base, won the mile in a service record time of 4:12.1.

His best effort as a civilian was 4:00.6.

Santee put on a stretch burst of speed to shoot ahead of Army's Fred Dwyer, former Villanova ace, and Theodore Wheeler, also of the Army. The old service mile record was 4:19, set by the Army's Warren Druetler.

The half-mile race was a spectacular duel between Santee and Army's Bill Tidwell. In the last lap they matched strides for 100 yards, and on the last turn Tidwell pulled away to win in 1:51.8. This beat the record of 1:52.8 set last year by Army's Henry Cryer at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

Fred Lucas of Navy performed one of the greatest sprinting feats in the history of the inter-service championships. With only 45 minutes rest between trials and finals of the 220-yard dash, and despite the 101-degree heat, he ran the trials in :21.1 and the finals in :21.0, smashing the old record each time.

Navy's Ron Drummond upset Army's 300-pound Earl Putnam in the discus with a 162 foot 9½ inch throw. This eclipsed the old record of 156 feet 3 inches by James Cook of the Army in 1952.

The Army 440 relay team broke the :41.7 record set by Navy in 1953 by finishing in :41.4.

Meet officials named Lucas the outstanding athlete. He was awarded a trophy at a banquet tonight.

Chiefs Play Boonville Lions Here Tonight

Tonight at 8 p. m. the Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs will play the Boonville Lions, co-leader of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League, at Liberty Park.

Boonville soundly trounced Moberly Thursday night and is now tied with the Miners, only one game ahead of the Chiefs in the race for the first half pennant. These three teams seem destined to battle right down to the wire for the honors and rivalry will be at top pitch for this game.

If Sedalia wins, it stands a good chance to go all the way in the tight race with the others knocking each other out of contention. If Boonville is victorious, it will have a head start over Sedalia and Moberly to take the flag for the first half of the season's play.

Tonight will be the time when Sedalia baseball fans will have an opportunity to see baseball played by the Ban Johnson team, which is following right along in the tradition of past Sedalia teams. Always a power in Central Missouri Ban Johnson circles, the local Chiefs this year are no exception. Several of the Sedalia pitchers boast earned run averages which rate with the best in the league.

Sedalians will enjoy watching these boys perform and the stands should be well filled for this game with Boonville.

Either Elroy Burton or Ralph Schultz will be on the mound against the Boonville club.

Jr. Legion Goes To Boonville For Game Today

The Post 16 Junior Legion baseball team will journey to Boonville today for a game at 2 p. m.

This will be the second meeting of the two clubs, the local Post 16 team winning over Boonville 10-1 in the first encounter.

Coach Bobby Brown will start either Bob Abney or Gary Wickliffe on the mound with Clyde Kubli and Kenneth Buhlig in reserve. Larry Mines will do the receiving.

Players on the Legion team are asked to be at Smith-Cotton High School at 11:30 a. m. to leave for Boonville.

Monday night at Liberty Park the Post 16 team will meet the Springfield Legion team. Game time will be 8 p. m.

Hold K.C. Open July 29-Aug. 1 At Blue Hills

A classy field of golf pros will appear in the $20,000 Kansas City Open which will be staged at the Blue Hills Country Club from July 20 through Aug. 1. Blue Hills is located at Sixtieth Street and The Paseo.

Porky Oliver, the "fat-man" of golf won the event last year with a 72-hole total of 269, which set an all-time mark for the meet. He was 19 under and Oliver came home with a 7-under 65 par on the final 18-hole route for the sugar-coated victory. The old mark of 271 was set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1950.

Oliver had been a threat in previous tournaments and finally came through for the triumph.

Other former Kansas City Open champions who will play in the four-day event include Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum and Big Jim Ferrier.

Also back for more greenbacks will be Marty Furgol, who finished in the runner-up spot last year with a 271, two strokes behind Oliver. Furgol's opening day 72 almost tempted him to quit, but the pro changed his mind and he came through rounds of 65-67-67 to grab $1,900 in money.

Earl Stewart, Jr., finished third last year and pocketed $1,400. Bo Wininger, former Oklahoma A. & M. star athlete, Mangrum and Jim Turnesa tied for fourth with 274 each and they won $1,100 a piece.

Due Gibson, who is the pro at Kansas City Blue Hills, had a 277 total last year at Milburn for a total of $750.

Dutch Harrison, Art Wall, Jr., Doug Ford, Dave Douglas, Fred Haas, Jr., Fred Wampler, Chandler Harper, Dick Mayer, Bob Taski, Mike Souchak, former Duke University grid star, Dick Mayer and many others will be in Kansas City in hopes of winning the top prize.

All of the proceeds of the tournament again will be given to Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City, according to Bob Leacox, chairman of the tournament. Last year more than $12,000 was given to Mercy Hospital. This is one of the few tourneys throughout the country in which the proceeds are given to some worthy cause.

Midwest Archery Ass'n Will Meet July 3, 4 and 5

The Midwestern Archery Association, which has members in 16 states, will hold its 1954 Championship Tournament in St. Louis July 3, 4 and 5. The membership of the Association includes both target and field archers. The St. Louis Archery Club (target archers) and the St. Louis Bow Hunters (field archers) will be the tournament hosts.

There will be trophy awards for men, women and juniors in both target and field events and separate awards in "open" classes for visitors from states not included in the territory served by the Midwestern Association.

All target events will be held on the target range of the St. Louis Archery Club, located in Forest Park adjacent to the old Mounted Police Station. Field events will be staged on the field ranges of the St. Louis Bow Hunters, located in the August A. Busch Memorial Wildlife Area at Weldon Springs, Mo. Two ranges, each complete with 28 targets, have been newly laid out for the tournaments. Arrows will mark the route to the field ranges from the entrance to Weldon Springs on Highway 94 where it crosses Highways New 40 and 66.

Awards to Editors

The annual banquet of the Association will be held in the Embassy Room of the Kingsway Hotel, 108 N. Kingshighway, Sunday, July 4, at 7:30 p.m. Guests of honor will be J. W. Anderson of Philadelphia, editor and publisher of The Archers' Magazne, the official publication of The National Archery Association of the United States (target archers) and Roy Hoff of Palm Desert, Calif., editor and publisher of Archery Magazine, official publication of The National Field Archery Association. Plaques will be awarded to each editor in recognition of work done to promote a national interest in archery as a sport.

Archers from North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia are entitled to compete in the regular tournament events.

Bob Richards Favored In AAU Decathlon

ATLANTA CITY, N. J., June 26 (AP)—The 1954 national AAU decathlon track and field champion tourney will be held here July 2-3 with the Rev. Bob Richards heading the list of 23 athletes entered for the gruelling 10-event meet.

Richards, 28-year-old Olympic pole vaulting champion and winner of the 1951 decathlon, will represent the Los Angeles Atehltic Club.

The 1953 champ, Milton Campbell of Plainfield, N. J., will not defend his crown because of a recent elbow injury.

Richards, who finished second last year, is the favorite. His chief competition is expected from Jim Podoley of Central Michigan College, 1954 Kansas Relays decathlon winner; Joel Shankle of Duke University, who was fourth last year; and Aubrey Lewis, muscular Montclair, N. J., schoolboy who placed sixth last year only after one month's practice. He had never competed in five of the 10 events.

The decathlon includes 100, 400 and 1,500 meter races; 110 meter hurdles; broad jump, shot put, high jump, discus, pole vault and javelin.

BULL THROWING CLOWN—Charley Davis, Tucson, Arizona, shows how he got the reputation of "working closer to the dangerous Brahma bulls than any other rodeo clown in the nation." Charley is one of the three rodeo clowns signed for the third annual J Bar H Rodeo to be held in Camdenton, Missouri, July 7 through 11.

Trabert Wins Gruelling Match As US Advances In Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26 (AP)—His hand blistered and bleeding, Tony Trabert hit back twice from what looked like certain defeat today to master Sweden's Sven Davidson in a hair-raising five setter that will rank with Wimbledon's center court tennis masterpieces.

The scores were 3-6, 12-10, 6-0, 7-9, 6-3.

They were all but counting ten over the freckled Cincinnatian as re reeled around in the second and fifth sets of a two hour and 15 minutes fourth round scrap. But the 23-year-old No. 1 seeded American never came close to panic and he won because he kept his head.

Six water blisters and one blood blister potted his raquet palm while Davidson, a tall brunette Swede, suffered a cramp in his right leg as the 68th Wimbledon championships got back to steady business after a day of rain.

Thus Trabert led an almost solid advance of top-seeded favorites into the quarter-final round of men's singles.

Two other Americans—defending champion Vic Seixas and Budge Patty — moved forward along with the entire four-man Australian Davis Cup team of Lewis Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig and the self-exiled Czech, Jaroslav Drobny.

Drobny, seeded 11th, was the only surprise. He came through the bracket reserved for America's Art Larsen, seeded sixth, beaten by Philippe Washer of Belgium. Drobny took care of Washer today, 8-6, 10-8, 6-3.

While 15,000 of the 26,733 fans present were watching the favorite in the top match of the week, another 7,000 were watching the defending champion in another five setter. The champ, Seixas of Philadelphia, took the decision from young Jackie Brichant of Belgium, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

Nothing could be sweeter for Seixas. It was the same Belgian who went all out against him in Brisbane last winter and won a Davis Cup match.

Patty, seeded seventh, kept pace with Seixas and Trabert by trouncing Britain's last hope, Michael Davies, 7-5, 6-1, 7-5. But Gil Shea of Los Angeles bowed out before Hartwig, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Hoad, favored to meet Trabert in the finals, leved up to his No. 2 seeding by knocking off the 40-year-old Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla. 4-6, 6-0, 7-5, 6-3.

Marshall Race Event Won By Junior Hower

For the third time in as many weeks, Junior Hower walked off with top honors in the 25-lap feature race in the modified stock car speedfest at Sportsman's Speedway at Marshall Thursday night. Hower broke into the clear after a few laps and was never headed. Torch Aleshire, Moberly, who furnished most of Hower's opposition, spun out at the halfway mark, while Scotty Scovill, another pre-race favorite, was pushed over the backstretch bank. Most of the action was between Crocket Thomason, John Bowman and Jud Larson, who battled for what was left after Pistol Gunn turned in a surprising second place finish.

Hower also annexed the trophy dash, but was shut out in his heat, coming back for a second spot in the third elimination. Crocket "The Rocket" Thomason, Clinton, edged Hower and John Bowman in this one.

Bill Winders turned on the steam to take the first heat, in one of the fiercest 10-lappers seen yet at this oval. A three-car race all the way brought Scotty Scovill in ahead of Torch Aleshire and Hugh Amick in the second heat race.

The consolation went to Scovill in a breeze, with Amick and John Pitt leading the remainder of the field.

The summary:

Best time—Larson, :21.7.

Trophy dash, 5 laps—Hower, Aleshire, 1:46.9.

First heat, 10 laps — Winders, Gunn, Pitt, 3:43.6.

Second heat, 10 laps—Scovill, Aleshire, Amick, 3:38.8.

Third heat, 10 laps—Thomason, Hower, Bowman, 3:31.9.

Feature, 25 laps—Hower, Gunn, Thomason, Winders, Bowman, Larson, 8:31.4.

Consolation, 15 laps — Scovill, Amick, Pitt, Yoakum, Dooley, 5:08 (new record.)

Giants Cling To 1st In Win Over Cubs 6-4

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—The New York Giants clung to first place in the National League race, turning back the Chicago Cubs 6-4 today for Johnny Antonelli's 10th victory with the help of a bases-loaded homer by Wes Westrum in the fourth inning. Marv Grissom struck out Ralph Kiner with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to save the decision for Antonelli.

Bolt Retains Lead in Insurance City Open Golf

WETHERSFIELD, Conn., June 26 (AP)—Tommy Bolt posted a 2-under par 69 today to retain the lead at the end of the third round in the $15,000 Insurance City Open Golf tournament with a 54-hole score of 200.

The snappy Texan's 54-hole total included a sensational 60 yesterday, equalling the PGA one-round record.

But where his spectacular 60 Friday zoomed him five strokes in front of the tough competition, his margin was reduced to only three strokes today. Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and Ed Burke, Woolbridge, Conn., followed Bolt at 203.

And at least a dozen other top-notchers were within reasonable distance of Bolt's 200 total target with the final 18-hole round to be played tomorrow.

They included John Palmer, Charlotte, N. C., 204; Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N. C., and former National Open champion 205; Bob Toski, Livingston, N. J., the 1953 winner; Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., and Dr. Gary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., dentist, among the 206s.

Want To Bet?

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Best bet for an absolutely rainless day in the Oakland-San Francisco area is July 16. Rainfall records kept for 25 years at the Oakland Municipal Airport show July 16 to be the only day throughout the period on which not even a trace of rain fell.

J Bar H Rodeo At Camdenton On July 7-11

The third annual J Bar H Rodeo will be held in the $100,000 modern arena located just outside the city limits of Camdenton, Mo., July 7 through July 11. Night performances are scheduled for July 7 through 10 with the final performance of the 1954 event to start at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, July 11. The nights performances begin at 8 o'clock.

The rodeo, produced by Harry B. Nelson and his wife, Jean, shattered national rodeo attendance records in its first two years and 50,000 are expected to see the five-performance event this season.

Nelson reports advance ticket sales are ahead of last year but said there are plenty of choice seats left. All seats are now reserved but there is no increase in price.

The seating capacity of the big J Bar H arena is 10,200 and the designers gave consideration to both contestant and spectator. Every seat is a good one. The Rodeo Cowboys Association last year selected the arena as a model for future construction.

Production cost alone for the 1954 rodeo opening July 7, will go over $50,000 according to Nelson who said, "this amount, among other things, will provide eight top-notch specialty acts for each of the five performances."

The nation's top cowboys will compete for prize money totaling $6,875.00. The J. Bar H. prize money is the biggest purse offered anywhere in the United States July 7 through 11, and it has attracted an all-star lineup of cowboys who make their living in America's roughest and most colorful dare-devil sport.

The J. Bar H event now ranks in the top ten of the nation and everything is set for the rodeo to roll along in high gear this season. Producer Nelson said "we have spared absolutely nothing to make the 1954 rodeo the biggest and best to date".

Full information may be obtained by writing Mr. Harry Nelson, J Mar H Rodeo, Camdenton, Mo.

Tigers Nip Senators 5-4 to Retain 4th Place

DETROIT, June 26 (AP) — Frank House and Bob Nieman hammered home runs today and the Detroit Tigers nipped the Washington Senators, 5-4, to retain their slim hold on fourth place.

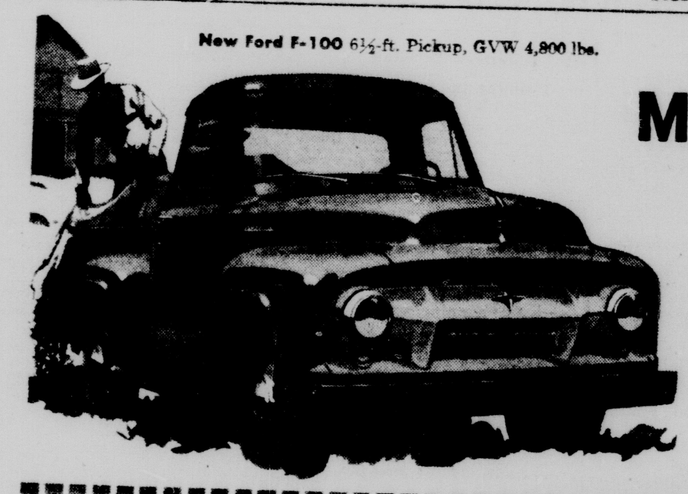

Washington rallied for two runs in the seventh, cutting Detroit's lead to 5-4, but Ned Garver came out of the bull pen to snuff out the rally.

QUICKIES By Ken Reynolds

"Okay! Okay! . . . what'd you see in the Democrat-Capital Want Ads that you want this time?"

Mayor's Speech

that he personally curb a neighborhood celebration that appears to be out of hand, and his breakfast is interrupted with a request that he obtain a pardon for a man serving time in a federal prison.

One Cog in Machine

"Many people have the notion that the mayor writes the laws, passes the laws, and enforces the laws. Nothing could be further from the truth. The mayor is just one cog in the whole machine of city government.

A first fact that is not often recognized, but which is essential to an understanding of local government, is that Sedalia, like all cities, is a municipal corporation created by the state. All the authority of the mayor, of the council, and of the local courts, is derived from state laws, and subject to certain constitutional limitations. All local authority is subordinate to the authority of the state. Every elected and appointed official of local government possesses only such power as the state legislature has thought is wise to confer.

"Your local government follows closely the pattern used in framing our state constitution, which in turn was cut from the same cloth as our federal constitution. It is therefore important, if we are to understand the philosophy and theory of our local laws, that we appreciate certain of the doctrines that were uppermost in the minds of the men who wrote our national constitution.

Checks and Balances

"Two doctrines were very popular in the early days of our independence: namely, the doctrine of separation of powers, and the doctrine of checks and balances. It was felt that the only way to prevent the misuse of power was to divide it among the different departments of government. The legislature was given the authority to make laws, but not to enforce them. The executive was given the right to enforce laws, but not to make them. The courts were empowered to interpret laws, but to do nothing more.

"Although changed conditions over the last few centuries have resulted in some overlapping of authority, and although circumstances have made certain modifications necessary, this same system of checks and balances continues to play an important part in local government in America.

"The mayor is the city's chief executive. He is elected by the people for a term of four years. He is charged primarily with the enforcement of the laws. Speaking broadly, however, one may consider the powers of the mayor under four heads. I should like to discuss these four areas of authority with you briefly.

Mayor Recommends

First, the mayor has the unrestricted right to address the council and to make recommendations for the protection and improvement of the city's finances and government. Just how far the council heeds these suggestions depends upon public opinion, the persuasiveness of the mayor, the make-up of the council, and the relations between the mayor and the council.

"When council meetings are conducted in a spirit of mutual cooperation and respect, the influence of the mayor in recommending legislation is apt to be great. When the mayor and the council are at odds with one another, a recommendation by the mayor is likely to be regarded by the council as the best reason for vetoing the suggestion. The point I wish to get across is that the mayor can only recommend legislation; he cannot introduce it. Only a councilman can introduce an ordinance and once an ordinance is introduced, only the councilmen can vote to pass or defeat it.

"The mayor is only the presiding officer of the council; he has no vote. Some people have the mistaken notion that the mayor casts the deciding vote in case of a tie vote on an ordinance. This is not true. The authority to introduce and to vote on ordinances is delegated solely to the councilmen. The mayor can only recommend legislation and any council so inclined can ignore every recommendation made by the mayor.

May Veto, Not Vote

"A second power of the mayor is also associated with the legislative process, but in a negative way. All ordinances passed by the council are sent to the mayor. If the mayor approves, he signs the ordinance, whereupon the measure goes into force. If he does not approve the proposal, he may return it unsigned within ten days, and in returning it he states his reason for withholding his signature. If the councilmen wish, they may override the mayor's veto by a two-thirds vote. In this event the proposal becomes a law in spite of the objections of the mayor. The veto power is an integral part of our American system of checks and balances, but bear in mind that the final decision on the passage of legislation remains in the hands of the council.

A third power of the mayor and perhaps his most important one is that of making appointments. The mayor is primarily an administrative officer charged with the conduct of the city's day-to-day affairs. Most of the men and women in the municipal service are at least nominally responsible to him. It is his duty in most cases to determine the manner in which the policies of the council are to be carried out. For these reasons the mayor is given a voice in the selection of appointees and committees. But again, the final authority does not rest with the mayor.

"All appointments must be ratified by the council before they became effective. In most city administrations the council supports the selections of the mayor. However, this does not detract from the fact that the council has the legal right to reject any or all appointments made by the mayor.

Appointive Officials

"In Sedalia, the following officilas are appointed by the mayor: city counsellor, city clerk, fire chief, assistant fire chief and all firemen, all policemen other than the chief, city engineer, license, sanitary and cigarette inspector, building, electrical and gasoline inspector, plumbing inspector, meat inspector, dairy inspector, street and sewer inspector, weighmaster, all employees of street and alley department, all employees of sanitary department, stenographers in City Hall, all employees of Hospital No. 2, poundmaster, and janitor of City Hall.

"The mayor also appoints the following committes from among the membership of the council: streets and alleys, fire and water, claims and supplies, police, gas and lights, public buildings and grounds, printing and ordinances, finance and taxes, sewer and sanitation, also all special committees. In addition, the following boards and commissions are appointed by the mayor: Bothwell Hospital, public parks, cemetery, library, zoning, plumbers examining, cemetery fund.

A fourth duty of the mayor is to aid in the preparation of the city budget. In this capacity, the mayor works with the finance committee of the City Council. He may make suggestions and recommendations, but only of an advisory nature. The budget is submitted by the financial committee of the council and the mayor has no vote on its rejection or adoption.

"In addition to the four duties and powers just discussed, the mayor of any American city has countless other duties as the official representative of the city in dealings with the state, other municipalities and, various other groups. Although the performance of these miscellaneous duties occupies a considerable portion of the mayor's time, his powers in this connection are of little significance.

"As your mayor, I have endeavored to give you a clear picture of both the duties and limits of my office. As I mentioned earlier, the mayor is just one cog in the whole machinery of government. I think you will agree that we have taken care to check the authority of the mayor and to balance him against other elected officials."

Conference Beefed Up

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa Gov. William S. Beardsley, concerned over the growing traffic death toll in the state, wanted Iowa teenagers to develop their own highway safety program.

He called a state conference of teen-agers to discuss traffic problems. To make sure the conference would be a success, the governor fd approximately 650 teen-agers barbecued beef from his own Iowa farm.

You Think It's Hot—How Would You Want These Folks' Really Hot Jobs?

—o— —o— —o— —o— —o— —o—

Some Sedalians Work in Air Conditioned Stores and Offices, Others Sweat It Out With a Fan or a Cooling Device of Some Kind That Helps—

But These Folks The Democrat's Camera Caught at Work Have Some of the Hottest Jobs in Town—and They Like Them

"GOSH, IT'S HOT," says Mrs. Ruth Hurtt, who runs her own cafe at 116 East Second. Mrs. Hurtt was a little hesitant about letting her picture be taken. She was afraid people would think she had the hottest cafe in town. However, everyone who goes in there knows better. It's just that when she starts cooking those steaks over a hot stove in the back that she gets hot. (Walch Photo.)

"GOSH IT'S HOT," says Stephen Snider, Lincoln, who works in the greenhouse at Archias Floral Company. Snider likes his work a lot, however, and it just doesn't seem to faze him when the thermometer in this big glass house climbs to the top of its range in the afternoon. "I've been here three years," he says, "and I certainly enjoy my work." (Walch Photo.)

"GOSH IT'S HOT," says Jim Barnes, 2237 East Broadway, who does blacksmithing at the Jolly Welding Shop. Jim, who is still a young man, has been at his trade nine years, and he says that it will take a lot more than a little heat to stop him. He is shown here as he pounds out a piece of red hot metal, trying to put it back into its original form from which it had been bent. (Walch Photo.)

"GOSH IT'S HOT," says J. M. Hodler, 420 North Quincy, as he just raises the lid and the steam pours from a dry cleaning vat. Hodler works for the Dorn-Cloney Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co., and says that they make it just as cool as possible for him. However, it's still plenty warm at this job. (Walch Photo.)

Miss Rita Morris, Mr. Roger Hahn, Recently Married

Miss Rita Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, Henry, Ill., became the bride of Mr. Roger Hahn, son of Mr. and Mr Russel Hahn, Washburn, Ill., in a single ring ceremony at the Washburn Methodist Church on Friday, June 18, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of pink nylon, styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt, with accessories of white. Her flowers were white carnations.

Miss Shirley Hahn, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant and wore a street length dress of blue nylon. Her bouquet was of yellow pompons.

Mr. Ben Egli, Washburn, Ill., served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents

Miss Halcomb Given Showers

Miss Helen Halcomb, who will be married on July 11 to Mr Bill Claypool, Kansas City, wa honored with a miscellaneou shower given by Mrs. Jerry Re no, 2221 South Grand, assisted by Mrs. Lelia Halcomb and Mrs. Katherine Pritchard.

A pink and white sprinkler, filled with flowers, was suspended over the table of gifts, and arrangements of flowers carrying out the color scheme were used around the home.

Games were played during the evening after which refreshments were served.

Guests were: Mrs. Wesley Claypool, Mrs. Faye Hill, Mrs. A. J. Heck, Mrs. Del Heckart, Mrs. Art Lacer, Mrs. A. C. Steele, Mrs. H. W. Bolder and Miss Katherine Pritchard.

Those who sent gifts, but were unable to attend, were: Mrs. J. A. Haerle, Mrs. W. R. Hearle, and Mrs. C. S. Williams, all of Boonville; Dr. Betty Claypool, Mrs. June Butler, Mrs. Reuel Heckart and Mrs. C. D. Guppon, all of Kansas City, Miss Virginia Moore, Miss Pearl Cole, Miss Mamie McCormick and Miss Margaret Young, Sedalia.

A shower Tuesday night, June 22, in honor of Miss Helen Halcomb, who will be married soon to Mr. B. H. Claypool, was given at the home of Mrs. Ruth Langston, 226 South Kentucky, with Mrs. Marjorie E. Lindhardt and Mrs. Iva Eckhoff as co-hostesses with Mrs. Langston.

The home was decorated with green and white streamers and arrangements of flowers were in the various rooms.

A unique idea was used of giving each guest a small card with a verse written on it to read when the honoree was about to open the gifts, then all of the other guests would try to guess what the gift was. An award was given the one who had guessed the most correctly.

There were also a large number of gifts given by the fitting department of Town and Country Shoe Factory, where the bride-to-be is employed.

Guests were: Miss Irene Heisterburg, Miss Laura Monsees, Miss Mabel Brandes, Miss Joan Overmier, Miss Margaret Young, Miss Katherine Pritchard, Mrs. Nellie Wulff, Mrs. Virginia E. Beyer, Mrs. Corrinne Martin, Mrs. Virginia Sands, Mrs. Alice Donath, Mrs. Elizabeth Cluxton, and Mrs. Ruth Hargrove, the bride and her mother, Mrs. Lelia H. Halcomb.

Those unable to attend, but sent gifts, were Miss Anna Marie Stohr, Mrs. Liddie Casdorph and Miss Daisy Martin.

Engagements

Mrs. Flossie Gunn Elliott, Versailles, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Hazel Elizabeth, to Mr. Edward Lee Bischoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bischoff, Higginsville.

Miss Elliott is a sophomore at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, where she is an active member of Theta Sigma Upsilon social sorority.

Mr. Bischoff is a graduate of Missouri University, where he was a member of Farm House fraternity. He served with the 465th Field Artillery Battalion in Southern Germany and was released on July 23, 1953 with the rank of first lieutenant. He is presently employed as office manager of Lafayette County A.S.C. in Higginsville.

An August wedding is planned.

Tebo Home Makers Hear a Book Review

Tebo Home Makers Extension Club of near Windsor met June 22 at the home of Mrs. Will Chipman with Mrs. Harry Redford, cohostess. Twelve members and four visitors, Mrs. Lyman Avery, Mrs. Ben Elbert, Miss Valetta Burkhart and Miss Rita Scrimager, were present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Allen Titsworth, and opened with a song led by Mrs. V. H. Wharton. Roll call was answered by "A Surprise". The devotional was given by Mrs. J. W. Bradley and was followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. Mrs. M. L. George read Miss Kathryn Zimmerman's letter. Mrs. Titsworth gave a report of the county council meeting in Clinton. Miss Valetta Burkhart reviewed the book, "White Mother in Africa", by Margaret Salley Eulich, Donna Hagar gave a recitation. Mrs. Lyman Avery gave a demonstration on "Corsage Making". Mrs. Fred Biggs

Miss Ada Louise Durrill Is Married To Mr. Fred Biggs In Church Ceremony

The First Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening, June 11, when Miss Ada Louise Durrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Durrill, 1109 East Sixth, became the bride of Mr. Fred Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Biggs, 1010 East 14th. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas W. Croxton before an altar setting of palms, large baskets of pink and white gladioli, pink and white Majestic daisies tied with white satin bows and seven branch candelabra, entwined with huckelberry and holding white burning tapers.

Mrs. Clyde Williams, at the organ, played "At Dawning", "Cantilene", "Liebestraum" and "One Alone". "To A Wild Rose" was played softly during the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. Williams accompanied Miss Shirley Kirkpatrick, who sang, "Through the Years", "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer". Miss Kirkpatrick wore a gown of yellow net over taffeta and her corsage was of white carnations.

Miss Donna Richardson, in a waltz length gown of white embroidered organdy over green taffeta, and Mrs Bert Crawford, in a waltz length gown of pink and blue net over taffeta, and both with wrist corsages of white carnations, lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace over white bridal satin. The molded bodice buttoned down the back from the Peter Pan collar with tiny satin lace covered buttons and had long tapering sleeves. The waltz length skirt, gathered at the waistline, was of nylon tulle with Chantilly lace panels extending to the hemline. Her matching Chantilly lace cap with clusters of orange blossoms on each side held her shoulder length illusion veil of imported English tulle. She carried a bridal bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid and tied with white satin and net and tiny white satin streamers. Her linen handmade lace trimmed handkerchief was a gift she brought her mother when she returned from a vacation in Havana, Cuba.

Miss Margaret Biggs, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and wore a gown of embroidered blue net over blue taffeta with matching headdress and mitts. She carried a cascade of pink carnations, net and matching ribbon.

Mr. Jack Edwards served Mr. Biggs as best man and ushers were Mr. Sonny Rabourn, Mr. Bob O'Dell, Mr. Donny Morton and Mr. James Croy.

Joyce Ladine Durrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Durrill, and niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore a light blue waltz length nylon dress over white satin with a sash of white satin tied with a big bow in the back. Her blue mitts and headdress matched her dress and her flowers were a wrist corsage of white carnations. She carried a white satin covered basket trimmed with net and tied with lily-of-the-valley and satin streamers, from which she scattered pink rose petals.

Frankie Merl Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Craig, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin covered pillow.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua blue nylon lace dress over aqua taffeta and her accessories were white. The bridegroom's mother wore a light green dress with white accessories and both mothers had corsages of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over pink and the three tier wedding cake, on which was a miniature bride and bridegroom, was encircled with lace fern and pink sweetpeas. Crystal candelabra holding burning tapers were used on either side and from the ceiling above the table were suspended white wedding bells and pink and white streamers.

Serving were Mrs. Larry Gore, Mrs. Howard Durrill, Mrs. Kenneth Durrill, Mrs. Clarence Mahin and Mrs. Frank Craig.

Mrs. Marvin Durrill presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Reba Shoemaker, Miss Zeta Marie Mahin, Miss Katherine Shoemaker and Miss Carolyn Heck had charge of the gifts.

Miss Ruth Waters and Miss Dean Hinken were in charge of the gift book and the gift table was covered with a white cloth, pink and white streamers and pink bows.

Following the reception, the couple left for a trip through the Ozarks. For traveling the bride wore a light blue suit with white accessories and her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School with the class of 1954 and is employed at the Fox Theatre.

The bridegroom was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School in 1952 and is employed at the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co.

The couple is now at home at 618 East Tenth.

La Monte Homemakers Have Dinner Meeting

The La Monte Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Frank Buffon for an all day meetjng last week. A dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. Edward Gregory, president, presided. Roll call was answered by each member telling of a cooking failure and how she disposed of it. Mrs. Little gave a report on health, and Mrs. D. C. Reed reported on "Clothes for the Family", by Katherine Zimmerman.

The club then planned a June 25 tour of Sedalia.

Mrs. George Worckman led group singing, and Mrs. J. F. McKeehan gave a reading, "Adam".

Two guests, Mrs. George Landes and Mrs. George Buffon, were present.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Everett Wing.

Youngkamp Brothers Honored at Dinner

Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp, Smithton, entertained with a family dinner last Sunday honoring her son, Vincent, who came from Bristol, R. I., to spend his vacation. He is a student at Columbia University.

The dinner had a dual purpose, being the birthday of Mrs. Youngkamp's son, John, also.

Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weber and family, Overland Park, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Harvey J. Hudson and family, Mission, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. William J. Murphy and family, Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Fowler, Kansas City, and John, Vincent and Mrs. Youngkamp of the home.

Mrs. James Nolin A Shower Honoree

Mrs. James Nolin, who before her marriage on June 5 was Miss Frances Siegel, was honored Saturday, June 19, at a miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. Herbert Cox and Mrs. Elmer Curtis entertained 32 guests in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Siegel. The home was attractively decorated with garden flowers and a large wedding bell hung from the ceiling over the dining room table, with green and white streamers descending from the bell to the four corners of the table. A beautiful arrangement of sweet peas centered the table and on either side were crystal candelabra holding lighted green tapers. This was surrounded with many lovely gifts for the bride.

Games were played during the evening with awards going to Mrs. J. E. Potter, Mrs. Roy Snapp, Mrs. Lois Eichholz, Mrs. Daisy Higdon, Mrs. Harold Fricke, Mrs. John McMullin, Mrs Charles Bluhm and Mrs. Robert Curtis.

After the bride had opened her gifts, refreshments were served. Miniature green and white wedding bells tied with white ribbons were favors.

Those present were: Mrs. Josie Eichholz, Mrs. Robert Curtis, Mrs. John McMullin, Miss Tommie Snapp, Mrs. Kenneth Potter, Miss LaDonna Snapp, Mrs. Mary Wallace, Mrs. Loven Arnett, Mrs. Daisy Higdon, Mrs. Melvin Tierfelder, Mrs. Emma Cranfield, Mrs. Margaret Hallahan, Mrs. Ada Snapp, Miss Beulah Arnold, Miss Meachel Curtis, Miss Wanda Jefress, Mrs. Jack Cramer, Mrs. Caroline Mosby, Mrs. Bell Todd, Mrs. Harold Fricke, Miss Shirley Siegel, Miss Delores Thierfelder, Mrs. Charles Bluhm, Miss Cathey Jo Eichholz and Claude McMullin.

Those who were unable to attend, but who sent gifts, were: Mrs. Paul Yount, Mrs. Russell Branstetter, Mrs. Clem Reuter, Mrs. Hazel Snapp, Mrs. Cora Doyle, Mrs. Ruth Potter, Mrs. Arni Siegel and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Wesleyan Service Guild Has Picnic at New Park

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Fifth Street Methodist Church held its annual picnic at Vermont Park Wednesday evening, June 23, and afterward went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brooke Wade for the meeting.

Mrs. H. Handley, president, presided over the business session and the new officers were installed by Mrs. Lee F. Soxman.

An interesting review of the Guild Assembly, held in Milwaukee, Wis., was given by Mrs. Soxman.

A feature of the evening was the showing of pictures of the ground breaking for the new church by Mr. Wade.

Miss Olga Tobaben, Mr. L. Schnell Exchange Vows In Cole Camp Ceremony

Miss Olga Tobaben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tobaben, Cole Camp, became the bride of Mr. Leonard C. Schnell, Cole Camp, son of Mrs. Sophie Schnell, Mt. Morris, Mich., at 6 o'clock in the evening of Monday, June 14. The double ring ceremony, at which the Rev. Henry J. Gerike officiated, took place at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Cole Camp, before an altar setting of pink wild roses and purple snapdragons, in the presence of only members of the family.

Mrs. Ray Tinker, Cole Camp, at the organ, played "Let Us Ever Walk With Jesus", "Take Thou My Hands and Lead Me", "Love Devine, All Love Excelling", and accompanied Mrs. H. J. Gerike who sang "O, Perfect Love".

A two piece dress of pale blue shantung, with which she wore white accessories, was selected by the bride for her wedding and her corsage was of white carnations and pink rosebuds. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Albert Beckman, Cole Camp, the bride's only attendant, wore a pink shantung dress and her corsage was of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Mr. Albert Beckman served Mr. Schnell as best man.

The bride's mother wore a street dress of aqua shade and her corsage was of white carnations.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Mt. Morris, Mich., and after July 5 will be at home in the C. L. Park's apartments in Cole Camp. For traveling

Miss Janice Gulick, Mr. McDaniel Exchange Vows at Versailles Church

Miss Janice Gulick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Gulick, Versailles, and Mr. Norris Dean McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McDaniel, California, were united in marriage on Sunday, June 20, at 2 o'clock at the Methodist Church in Versailles. The Rev. E. D. Watkins Jr., pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at the altar, which was decorated with baskets of summer flowers and lighted tapers in tiered candelabra.

Mrs. Lloyd Collins, at the organ, played a prelude of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Tom Strickfaden, California, who sang "Because" and "Always." Lohengrin's "Wedding March" and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn were played as the wedding party entered and left the sanctuary.

As the organist played "Claire de Lune," Miss Deanna David, Colorado Springs, Colo., niece of the bride, lighted the candles. She wore a ballerina length gown of yellow nylon net over satin. She entered the sanctuary with lighted white taper tied with white streamer.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white bridal satin and long tapering sleeves and a snugly fitted bodice buttoning in the front to the neckline which was finished with a Peter Pan collar. The waltz length skirt which flared from the waistline was fashioned of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, the lace extending from the bodice to a deeply scalloped peplum to below the hipline. The deep flounce of double nyoln tulle gathered with much fullness, joining the peplum, finished the skirt. Her fitted cap of nylon tulle, appliqued with a Chantilly lace pattern and embroidered with pearls, held her fingertip illusion veil of imported English tulle. She wore a three-strand necklace of pearls, a gift from the groom. The bride carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli.

Miss Lillian Pugh, Jefferson City, formerly of Versailles, was maid of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length gown of green nylon net over satin and carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli.

Mr. Harley McDaniel, California, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Melvin Gulick, Versailles, brother of the bride, and Mr. Lee Hamlin, Coffeyville, Kan., cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Gulick, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue silk dress and white and blue accessories. Mrs. McDaniel, mother of the groom, also wore a navy blue silk dress and white and blue accessories. Their corsages were red roses.

Immediately following the exchange of vows a reception for about 150 guests was held in the church dining room. The bride's table, covered with lace cloth, contained the four-tiered wedding cake, on which was a miniature bride and bridegroom. The crystal punch bowl was placed at the opposite end of the table and lighted candles and flowers centered the table.

Miss Marian McDaniel, sister of the groom, served the punch and Miss Mary Jo Ward, Jefferson City, served the cake. Mrs. Wanda David, Colorado Springs, assisted.

Miss Mary Ann Terhune, Jefferson City, was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of the Versailles High School, class of 1950, and attended college at Warrensburg. She has been employed the past three years at the Missouri State Highway Department.

The groom is a graduate of California High School, class of 1949, and later entered the armed forces, serving two years in Korea. At the present time he is employed in Jefferson City.

The bride chose for traveling a summer silk printed dress with black accessories. After a wedding trip through the South the couple will be at home at 1215 West High, Jefferson City.

Garage doors or even doors to your house can become "points of interest" by a little ingenuity and color planning.

A surrey with the fringe on top replete with the old faithful "Nellie," the horse would make a summer's project for the artist of the family and also make a "picture" of the garage doors.

The flowers in your kitchen wallpaper painted on your outside kitchen door would convey a colorful welcome and also blend with the decorations in the room when the door is standing open (it is open most of the time these days, isn't it?)

Rains' Entertain With Dinner at Home

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Rains entertained Sunday, June 20, with a dinner at their home, 801 East Ninth, in honor of Mr. Rains for Father's Day and the birthday anniversary of their son, T/Sgt. Carl Rains, who is now stationed at the SAFB but will soon leave for Japan, where he will be stationed with the 315th Air Division.

Mr. and Mrs. Rains had all of their children home for the occasion.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Rains and sons, Joe Bill and Charles Allen, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Rains, Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Rains, Osawatomie, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Denver Markham, Kansas City, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. George Whitlock, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitlock, Clinton; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Earl Rains and children, Pamela and Earl Jr., Mrs. Leona P. Knox and children, Joseph and Charlene Coffey, Mrs. Anna Margaret Hamilton and daughter, Janet Ann, all of Sedalia; Mrs. John Alford, Apalachicola, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Alford are now visiting relatives in Sedalia.

Flat Creek Extension Club Studies Foot Care

The Flat Creek Extension Club met June 22 at the home of Mrs. R. W. Welliver, Mrs. W. A. Ball presiding.

"Foot Care" was the topic for the day, with Mrs. J. J. Murray and Mrs. Alyn Rugan giving the report.

The 4-H committee report was given by Mrs. Charles Keele, and demonstrations were given by Judy Murray, Am Logan, Nora Snow, and Judy Hopkins.

Eighteen members, four children and one guest, Mrs. Cecil Monsess, were present, and roll call was answered with a display of the member's favorite apron.

A watermelon feast is planned by the club for July 9 at the Anderson School House.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Milburn.

Your Wardrobe
by Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

Let's take time out from our sun fun to think about FALL. After all, it is the season when we see the most handsome fabrics, the finest tailoring and the most intriguing colors there are. The coats for instance are really new looking. Smooth textured fabrics, in new shades that will immediately cause you to check your budget. Jet black Elgora fabric fashioned into a long coat with a huge shawl collar, and push-up sleeves, if you prefer heads my list of "that special" coat. Heavenly taupe in a long coat with softly draped collar and just one handsome button at the neckline. Shortie coats? Yes, in jeweltones to pastel shades in chinchilla and smooth fabrics. About dresses, first we'll have crepes done in tailored and casuals for that transition period—then will come the beautiful wools plus some new fabrics, all in a variety of shades, so there will be something special for everyone. About separates—that is a story all of its own and we'll talk about it next week, because it is excitingly important and will play a tremendous part in your wardrobe for the immediate future.

Rosalie Bishop Recent Bride Of Glenn Irey

Miss Rosalie Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bishop, Tipton, and Mr. Glenn D. Irey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Ivey, Latham, were united in marriage at three oclock Friday afternoon, June 18, at the Baptist parsonage in Tipton, the Rev. Elwood G. Kelley performing the double ring ceremony.

The couple was attended by the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Bell, Kansas City.

The bride wore an off-white suit trimmed in white, her lace hat being trimmed in flowers and rhinestones. Her gloves were white and her shoes were trimmed in white, her purse was navy blue and she wore a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Bell was attired in a light blue suit trimmed in white with matching shoes, hat, purse and gloves.

Mrs. Irey is employed at the Weber Shoe Company, Inc., Tipton, and the groom is farming a mile north of Latham, where the couple will make their home.

After the wedding the couple left for a trip to the Lake of the Ozarks.

Miss Rose Ann Heuerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Heuerman, route 2, Sedalia, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Robert L. Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Solomon, 1603 South Kentucky, is announced by her parents.

The wedding will take place July 30 at 7:30 p. m. at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

'Our Feet and Their Care' Studied by Club

Mrs. Ernest Schlobohm and Mrs. Gerbert Wewes entertained the Oak Grove Extension Club Tuesday afternoon at the club house. A dessert luncheon was served at 1:30 o'clock. The president, Mrs. Roy Petty, was in charge of the meeting and plans were made for an ice cream social for the evening of July 17.

The project for the day was "Our Feet and Their Care", with Mrs. F. J. Yeater and Mrs. H. A. Wilson being the leader. They pointed out that one of the function of the feet is weight bearing, with 60 percent of the body weight on the heels, 30 percent on the outside of the foot, and ten per cent on the inside. Shoes should be fitted to conform to the real architecture of the feet.

Following the talk, Connie Adams gave a demonstration of the making of lemonade.

Daughters of Isabella Have Outing at Center

The Daughters of Isabella, Sedalia Circle No. 310, entertained Wednesday evening at the Catholic Community Center at which time a very clever little skit was put on by Emily Dick, Nancy Esser and Betty Ann Klein, doing a little black face number along with a few songs.

Games were played after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Dell Ilmberger and her committee.

A special guest was the Rev. Sebastian Weissenberger, O.S.B.

Leon C. Miller Reunion This Week

Relatives of Leon C. Miller, 1408 West Tenth, came to Sedalia for the annual reunion, arriving Tuesday evening at the Miller home for a buffet supper.

Wednesday at noon a dinner was served by members of the Rissler Circle of the First Methodist Church. Decorations were in keeping with the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Miller, which fell on the same day, making the day a double celebration.

The afternoon was spent at Liberty Park, the group returning to the church where the members of the circle served another dinner.

The evening was spent at the Miller home and movies of previous reunions were shown.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Miller, Riverton, Nebr., the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller and son, Dickie, Iola, Kan., J. Maynard Miller, Laramine, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fessenden, Winnebago, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Larson, Amboy, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Lyle H. Miller, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. William Klammer and children, Lorene, Avis and Allen, Winnebago, Min., and Mr. and Mrs. Leon C. Miller, Sedalia.

Members of the family unable to attend the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Boler, Winnebago, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Miles Boler and children, Sandra, Marlyn and Janet Susan, Winnebago; Miss Marcia Parson, Amboy, Minn; Iver Larson, Amboy, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. M. Hawes and daughters, Veryl and Violet, Duluth, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hawes and children, Johathan, Juliann and Stephen, Duluth, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Huh A. Miller, Minneapolis, Minn., Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Miller and sons, Tom, Jim, Paul and Danny, San Diego, Calif.

A member of the family, John Stauffer of Winnebago, died June 21 and the funeral was held the same day as the reunion.

The next year reunion is to be held in Southern Minnesota, in August.

Bowling Green Club Meets at Mrs. Morris'

The Bowling Green Extension Club met June 24 at the home of Mrs. L. E. Morris with Mrs. Elwood Payne assisting. Mrs. C. V. Gardner presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Minnie Harrington, gave talks on clothing and care of the feet.

Mrs. Opal Ellisson read the closing poem, "My Task."

Roll call was answered by how each member makes pin money, 12 members and two guests, Mrs. Gilmore and Mrs. McKensie of Smithton being present.

The next meeting will be at the Beaman Hall with a picnic and outdoor cooking.

Loyal Sewing Club Has Luncheon Meeting

The Loyal Sewing Club met in the home of Mrs. Perry Reed in La Monte Wednesday, June 23, with Mrs. J. R. Ramey and Mrs. Charles Spillers assisting.

A contributive dinner was served at noon to 11 members and two visitors.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Earl Grady.

Following the business session games were played.

GOING — British actress Simone Silva, who caused many stretched necks when she stripped to the waist to pose with Robert Mitchum on the French Riviera, has been ordered to leave the U. S. within 60 days. Immigration officials say though she came here on a pleasure visa. Simone signed a Hollywood movie contract and was receiving a salary, which is illegal.

Miss Ella Dean Brereton, Sedalia Teacher, Bride of Phillip Imhauser Jr.

Miss Ella Dean Brereton, daughter of Mrs. Mona Brereton, 919 East Fourth and Mr. Philip W. Imhauser Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Imhauser Sr., route 2, were married in a double ring ceremony by the Rev. W. P. Arnold, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, at his home on Friday, June 18.

The bride selected for her wedding a street length dress of pale blue embossed nylon with white accessories and her corsage was of white carnations and baby breath.

Mrs. Donald Templemire, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, and wore ad ress of navy blue printed voile with navy and red accessories. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Mr. Donald Templemire served Mr. Imhauser as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Missouri Valley College, Marshall, and has taught at Horace Mann School for the past three years.

Mr. Imhauser has recently returned from Korea, having served there for 14 months. He is now engaged in farming.

After a short wedding trip they will reside at 900 South Stewart.

Public Library Notes---

Two New Books Give Unusual Slants on the War In Korea

Two new, authoritative books about the Korean war are being featured at the Public Library. They are Mark Clark's "From the Danube to the Yalu," and "General Dean's Story," as told to William L. Worden by Maj. Gen. William F. Dean.

"From the Danube to the Yalu" is Gen. Clark's personal story of his seven years of almost constant struggle with the Communists on the battlefield and at the conference table — a struggle which began when he first came face to face with Soviet duplicity as U. S. High Commissioner for Austria in 1945.

Now retired from the Army, Mark Clark corrects some widespread misconceptions about the Korean War and makes a blunt appraisal in his book of the results, political and military, of our action there.

"From the Danube to the Yalu" gives a blow-by-blow account of the delicate negotiations leading up to the armistice, an armistice, he says, which involved one year of fighting and two years of talking. Also included is the incredible inside story of the rebellion in the POW compounds on Koje, the kidnaping of Gen. Dodd, and the well-organized sixth column conspiracy within the camps. The broad implications of Clark's story will deeply concern everyone.

The world is already aware of the bitter and dramatic circumstances of Gen. Dean's capture in Korea and imprisonment by the Communists, but the whole story is the one the American public has been waiting for, and it is made available for the first time in complete form in the book, "General Dean's Story."

In these pages the reader will be privileged to come to know intimately a man of courage and compassion, resourceful and hardy in mind and body — the kind of American whose herosim and modesty give us confidence and hope for the future. In one of the great testaments of the human spirit, Gen. Dean tells a story of fortitude and survival against tremendous odds.

James A. Owens' Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Owens, who were married in Sedalia and made their home here many years before moving to Pittsburgh, Pa., are celebrating their golden wedding Tuesday.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall L. DeHaven, 1207 East 11th. Mrs. Owens' maiden name was Gertrude Lee DeHaven.

The Owens' were active in the First Baptist Church before moving to Pittsburgh. Mrs. Owens is a 50-year member of Sedalia Chapter No. 57, Order of the Eastern Star, and a past matron (1914). Mr. Owens, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, has been a national officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and is still active in the organization's affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens have two children. A son, Kenneth D. Owens now lives in San Diego, Calif. A daughter, Mrs. William Dietz, formerly of Harrisburgh, Pa., is now in Frankfort, Germany, where her husband, Dr. Dietz is stationed with the Army. The Owens' also have two grandsons and one granddaughter.

Fashion Frolic---

Be Discreet After Forty

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

Summer is the season for frolicking with fashion. It's the season when girls who are known for their conservative attire the rest of the year wear the maddest of hats with the greatest aplomb.

They appear in scandalously bare shoes with utter nonchalance. And they dangle the zaniest of earrings with gypsy confidence.

Playing along with the capricious season, girls indulge their whims for the widest of cartwheel hats, the shortest of shorts, or the biggest of handbags without inviting disapproving frowns.

But there comes a time when the wise woman approaches the season with a new caution. She realizes that most fashion foibles are successful only as complements of youth. Therefore, after 40, she lets discretion be her guide to summer fashion.

The terribly exotic jewelry, the very bare sun dresses, the zany accessories are no longer for her. She finds it wiser to play a more gentle part in fashion.

Shunning the fluffy ruffles, the fruit-laden head bands, the extreme in any case, she continues to kick up fashion heels, but far more discreetly.

She now looks for the things that are dramatic without being too bold, or dainty without being childish. She learns to steer a safe course between extremes and this develops a new fashion sense that enhances the new beauty and poise the years have bruoght.

KEEP 'EM HIGH AND GET GOING—Anyone can play cowboy and Indians, but the Spahn boys, of Elkhart, Ind., even have their own private jail where they can keep bad men. Paul, 5, is shown steering his brother Tom, 3½, into the hoosegow in their back yard. Their dad built it, and it gives the boys a chance to act out their wild west dramas.

Grigsbys Make Move to Columbia

By Mrs. Harold Conway

HUGHESVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Dean Grigsby and their children Michael and Emily, moved to Columbia on Monday. The Grigsby's came here from Rich Hill and spent the past two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Wes Grimes, then going to Columbia where Mr. Grigsby is enrolled at Missouri University, working on his Ph. D degree for the summer and coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jolly, Webster Groves, stopped off here Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandhorst and family enroute to Waco, Tex., for a visit with his brother and from there to Marble Falls, Tex., to visit his father for two weeks vacation.

Miss Betty Ingram, Warsaw, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Conway, returned home the first of the week accompanied by Annette Conway for a short visit.

Mrs. John Sullivan and daughters, Susan and Nancy, Sacramento, Calif., are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parkhurst had for Fathers Day dinner, Johnny, of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Darby, and daughter, Karen, Carrolton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dyler, Marilyn Larry, Linda, Cheryl, Joe Jim of Kansas City Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shane, Janet, Carol, and Michael, Sedalia.

Francis Richardson, of St. Joseph, took his daughter Mary Sue and friends to Fayette Thursday to attend the Methodist Youth Association in session for three days at Central. He came to Hughesville and spent the night with his parents Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Richardson.

Miss Ila Mae Hoffman, Columbia, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hoffman.

Add molasses, prepared mustard, cider vinegar and chopped onion to canned tomato sauce; use when you are barbecuing frankfurters for that picnic party.

New Classes Added to Fair Horse Show

The addition of many new classes to the 1954 Missouri State Fair Horse show is the paramount factor in an all-out effort to establish the "Show Me" State Fair event as the greatest of its kind in the middle west.

Working closely with L. C. Carpenter, commissioner of agriculture, and Ross C. Ewing, secretary of the fair, a horse show committee with Fred P. Schel Jr., Liberty, as chairman; W. J. Cunningham, Mexico, and Walter M. Bothin, Wentzville, as members; has prepared a six-night program that is destined to draw the largest list of entries ever made at the State Fair Show. Dates of the show are Aug. 22 through 27.

Among the added classes are a three-year-old five-gaited class, amateur, junior, novice, stable mascot, groom, roping, Shetland Pony, and draft horse classes.

Besides the new classes, premium money in the show has been substantially increased, several stake classes added, and plans are still being formulated in a serious effort to improve the show.

Officers of this year's show are, Fred P. Schell Jr., Liberty, superintendent; E. M. Woods, Jefferson City, and Charles Geagan, Menlo Park, Calif, assistant superintendents; Ralph Scott, Trenton, steward; Forrest A. Gibson, Liberty, clerk; Walter Botkin, Wentzville, announcer; J. Miller McAfee, Lawrenceberg, Ky., judge of all divisions except quarter horses, which will be judged by Elmer Gutschenritter, Garden Plains, Kan.

Arkansans Make Visit at Houstonia

By Mary E. Tevebaugh

HOUSTONIA — Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Elsner and children, Celeste Gail and Gary, Gentry, Ark., were weekend guests of Mrs. Elsner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Stone. Other guests of the Stones were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Stone and three children, Sedalia. The Elsners took Gary to a doctor in Kansas City for a check-up. He had polio several years ago.

Sharon Durk, Bardstown, Ky., has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Walter Fricke, Mr. Fricke and Marcia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan and children, Manhattan, Kan., spent the weekend with Mrs. Ryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Higgins.

D. F. Rhinehart was brought home from Bothwell Hospital Wednesday. He suffered a broken hip recently when thrown from a horse. Mr. Rhinehart is 86 years old. He had to have one foot amputated several years ago when he suffered frost bite. Mrs. Arch Reed from Tulsa, Okla., daughter of Mr. Rhinehart, arrived Thursday to stay with Mr. Rhinehart.

John Wallace Smiley went home with Tommy Butts of Lee's Summit, for a visit. Tommy has been visiting in Houstonia.

Perils of Teaching

STORM LAKE, Ia. (AP) — When the leading man in the class play fell ill, School Supt. Charles Waterbury of Nemaha filled in.

The roll called for him to spend considerable time on stage minus his trousers. The play title was "Let Me Out of Here."

Waterbury was voted a smash hit by the audience.

Van Johnson Doesn't Even Have His Own Swimming Pool

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It isn't true that to be a Hollywood star you have to own three swimming pools—labeled "his," "hers," and "theirs."

"We don't have even one," said Van Johnson, who has made 50 pictures since 1941.

Johnson, now hitting the peak of his career, is a cheerful relief from the breast-beating type of actor who predicts the West Coast film colony will become a ghost town.

"I've never felt more excitement in Hollywood," he said. "They have a new feeling out there. They are concentrating on quality pictures, and they are turning out better pictures all the time."

Van hit a new top himself recently as Lt. Steve Maryk in "The Caine Mutiny," a role that may make him a candidate for an Academy award.

"Gee, that would be something, wouldn't it?" he remarked. "In this business you generally wind up with nothing but a scrap book and some 8X10's.

"But if I ever should win an Oscar my wife, Evie, would probably make a lamp out of it."

Van has had to surmount three handicaps to gain serious recognition as a film actor: red hair, freckles, and a "face like the boy next door."

"In my first picture, a crime short," he recalled, "they insisted on dyeing my hair black and covering my freckles. Then it started raining, and the dye ran all over my face—and darn near washed me right out Hollywood.

"I was ready to leave town, but Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz talked me out of it, and helped me get another chance."

As "the boy next door" Van clicked quickly and became a nation-wide bobbysox idol.

"I still hate that term," he said, wryly. "But the bobby soxers all grew up and became mothers. I had the problem of growing up, too. I got pretty tired of being the boy next door with the apple pie face.

"But I have never been one to try to twist events too fast, and I don't believe in pounding on producers' desks. I've taken things as they came along, and I've gradually worked out of the apple pie face roles."

He will team with Deborah Kerr in his next film, "the End of The Affair," to be made in England. One of the steadiest workers in the industry, Van doesn't want to become a picture-a-year actor.

"What would I do the rest of the time?" he asked. "I go crazy if I have more than two weeks off."

Johnson is thoroughly relaxed, and never has become a victim of Hollywood tension. His secret: A nap every day after lunch.

"Even on the set I sometimes can get in an hour and a half," he said. "And when I'm working I make it a rule to get to bed by 9:30 at night.

"Even when I'm not working, I can't get used to staying up late. What can people gain by staying up until 4 a.m.?

"All that can happen to you after midnight is trouble."

...Dinner Takes Off

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A hen pheasant crashed through Mrs. Raymond Pare's kitchen window. She later told a Windsor Star photographer she planned to eat the bird. With that, the pheasant squawked, flapped its wings and flew out the window, breaking another pane of glass.

Steamfitters Boss Convicted As Racketeer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lawrence L. (Larry) Callanan and four other AFL union officials were convicted last night in the latest of a series of labor racketeering trials here.

Sentencing was deferred by Federal Judge Rubey M. Hulen until July 9. Each of the defendants was convicted on two counts, conspiracy and extortion, in violation of the anti-racketeering law.

They face a possible maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each count.

A Federal District Court jury returned its verdict after deliberating more than six hours.

Callanan, head of the steamfitters union here, is a brother of Thomas F. Callanan, former St. Louis sheriff and at one time an influential Democratic politician here.

Convicted with him were Carl J. (Dutch) Bianchi of St. Louis, outstate representative of a hoisting engineers local; R. M. Secor, business agent of a Farmington, Mo., building laborers local; William Poster, business agent of a St. Louis building laborers local, and L. A. Thompson, former business agent of a Cape Girardeau teamsters local.

They were accused specifically of extorting $28,016 from a construction firm headed by Oscar R. Burden of Tulsa, Okla., to insure labor peace on pipeline projects in Missouri.

Burden testified — and Callanan denied — that Callanan proposed the payoff at a luncheon meeting at the Jefferson Hotel here on May 16, 1952. The government contended Callanan set up two dummy companies to hide the payoffs.

Referring to the testimony by Burden and Callanan, Judge Hulen told the jurors: "Both cannot be telling the truth. This cannot be a matter of error. The conversation took place or it did not take place."

The jurors were instructed to examine the motives of Burden and Callanan for giving false testimony.

Callanan and Secor were permitted to continue at liberty under bond until they are sentenced. The three other defendants, previously convicted of labor racketeering in another case, were returne dto the St. Louis city jail.

Their attorneys were given until July 7, two days before they are to be sentenced, to file motions in the case.

Blue Fire Trucks

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Sidney Rural Fire District No. 1 has come up with a color which may be altogether new to civilian fire wagons: blue.

The color picked out by the firemen has been dubbed "smoke blue" by the truck's manufacturers. It won't be new for long, apparently. Other places already have expressed interest.

ASC Dismissal Upheld By District Court

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dismissal of three members of the Callaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee was upheld yesterday by U. S. Dist. Judge Albert A. Ridge.

The judge said he had no jurisdiction in the committeemen's suit for an injunction against their removal.

C. M. Brown, H. W. Craig and C. W. McClintic filed the action after they were dismissed April 15 by Murray C. Colbert, state AS chairman, during a dispute over hiring a manager for the Callaway ASC office.

"FENCE" FOR UNITED FRONT AGAINST REDS—One of the important items which Prime Minister Churchill and Anthony Eden will discuss when they meet with President Eisenhower will be creation of SEATO (Southeast Asia Treaty Organization) to curb any further Red aggression in Asia. Also included is the new Dulles defense line running from the northern tip of Japan and including all the island chains, including the East Indies. Indo-China will be included in the defense pattern if she requests it or if China commits "open military aggression." Map shows defensive strength in Asia.

Police Seize Youths For Gang Attack On Rep. Curtis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine youths, ranging in age from 8 to 15, have been seized by Washington police in connection with a gang attack on Rep. Curtis (R-Mo.)

Police Sgt. William Rasmusen said the youths were seized last night after some 30 0 persons—most of them juveniles—had been questioned in a two-day investigation.

"The case is solved," Rasmusen said, adding that three of the boys, aged 8 and 9, admitted taking part in the attack near the Capitol Wednesday night. He said they named the other six, who denied being implicated.

The nine were held without charge for questioning. Police said Curtis would be asked to identify the youths later today.

The attack occurred when Curtis went to the aid of Frank Mitchell of Toledo, Ohio, who was being threatened by a Negro gang. The congressman told of the incident in a House speech the next day and exhibited a stone which he said was one of several thrown at him by the youths.

So you want to raise soybeans in narrow rows and corn in wide rows, and your cultivator doesn't fit? You're just the man I'm looking for . . .

The man in this picture is just 10 minutes and one field away from a soybean cultivating job. When he's through cultivating corn, he just drops the corn cultivator and attaches his bean cultivator to the same Farmall C tractor mounting frame. His ground tools stay "put" . . . he's ready to go . . .

You can jump from one job to the other, too, with a Farmall C and this matched team of cultivators. And—best of all—both of them respond to the magic of Farmall Touch-Control . . . to give you effortless Fingertip Farming.

There's a wide choice of ground tools to fit your soil conditions. And there's a full line of Farmall C mounted, quick-change implements for every farm job . . . all raised and lowered by Farmall Touch-Control.

Leo J. Koerkenmeier In Training Operation

NORFOLK, Va. — Leo J. Koerkenmeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Koerkenmeier, Tipton, is among the 775 Naval Academy Midshipmen now participating in a joint amphibious training operation with a unit of Royal Canadian Naval Cadets at the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base, Little Creek, here.

Known as TRAMID '54, a contraction of TRAining of MIDshipmen, the instruction features classroom and practical work both ashore and afloat. To climax their training, the Midshipmen will be integrated into a 35-warship, 14,000-man task force and will storm ashore June 19th with U. S. Marines in a full scale amphibious assault on the beaches of Camp Pendleton, Va.

Sunday Brunch: Spread toast with deviled ham and top with chive-seasoned scrambled eggs.

TB Topics

In 1904, just 50 years ago, tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in the United States. Today, despite the trend of modern transportation which would make it possible to carry a disease across the country in a few hours, TB is taking fewer lives than ever before and ranks sixth.

Yet, in 1904 the Wright Brothers' flight has been completed only a year and in the same year the Ford Motor Co., was organized and two men, Dr. H. Nelson Jackson and Sewell K. Crocker crossed the nation—NYC to Frisco—by car for the first transcontinental auto trip.

Merchants Free Swims Attract 700 Friday; 16,000 Dips to Date

The Liberty Park swimming pool was running over with swimmers on "hot" Friday as some 700 people entered the pool to enjoy the coolness of the atmosphere.

Gerhardt Jaeger, co-supervisor of the pool, said that some 750 merchants' free swim passes had been used. He also reported that over 16,000 persons have been swimming in the Liberty Park pool thus far this year. Should the weather remain as hot as it has been the past week, a new record for attendance for the pool might be in the making.
